Johnson Surgery 'Complete Success'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeons removed President Johnson's gall bladder today in a two hour and 15 minute operation. The surgery was pronounced "a complete success."

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson entered the operating room at 7 a.m. EDT and the surgery was completed at 9:15.

He said the gall bladder was removed and found to contain a stone. Another stone was found in the ureter and also was removed.

He said Johnson was recovering normally.

Moyers' statement that a stone was also located in the ureter means a kidney stone was also found in addition to a gallstone.

The ureter is a tube leading from the kidney for the passage of urine to the outside of the body.

No mention of the possibility of a kidney stone had been made in previous discussions of the President's current illness.

But the President has a history of kidney stones, having had two of them removed over the years — one by surgery and another one by manipulation at a different time.

Manipulation means that the kidney stone in that particular case was removed without opening the body surgically. The stone in that instance was probably removed by probing into the urinary tract from outside without actually opening the body.

Johnson had a kidney stone removed by surgery in 1955, the same year he had his heart attack. The stone that was removed by manipulation occurred in 1948.

Moyers said Dr. James Cain informed him that "everything went, in his words, beautifully and as expected. The President is resting well in his room."

Reported 'Recovering Normally'

While both kidney stones and gall stones are formed from materials precipitated out of body fluids, doctors say that ordinarily they don't consider the two kinds of stones related.

First word that the surgery had actually been carried out had come earlier from Joseph Laitin, assistant press secretary, who made his announcement at 7:52 a. m.

A team of physicians, several of them recruited from the famed Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., had planned all along to start the one-to-two-hour surgical operation about 7:30 a.m. Johnson, who was described relaxed and in good spirits in advance of the operation, checked into the hospital shortly before midnight, with his wife Lady Bird on his arm.

He was in bed by 12:20 a.m., a bare seven hours before the scheduled surgery, but took no sleeping tablets.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers announced the approximate 7:30 a.m. time for surgery Thursday night, but said it "could be earlier, it could be later."

Just a month ago Thursday, Johnson experienced stomach pains that led medical experts to conclude — after extensive tests — that he had "a poorly functioning gall bladder with stones" — something they decided should be removed through surgery. Johnson chose the date for the operation.

Though the chief executive had a moderately severe heart attack 10 years ago, the doctors said the risk involved was "very low indeed."

Dr. George A. Hallenbeck of the Mayo Clinic, enlisted to remove the ailing gall bladder, said Johnson might be able to get out of bed later in the day — surely by Saturday. But, said Hallenbeck, the President won't feel good-as-new for perhaps six weeks.

Johnson, who frequently runs behind schedule, was tardy for his admission to the hospital.

Night debate in the House on a beautification bill close to Mrs. Johnson's heart scrambled plans for a presidential "Salute to Congress" and delayed the President's departure for the 25-year-old skyscraper hospital.

A scheduled Johnson speech to partying Congress members was scrapped in favor of informal remarks to the few members and wives who got to the reception on time.

It was left to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to play host at an after-midnight White House party that only got up a full head of steam after House passage of the beauty bill — a vote that came after Johnson had gone to bed.

Humphrey is remaining in Washington at least through the early stages of Johnson's hospital stay. He has standing authority to make any presidential decisions that might be necessary while Johnson is under anesthesia or later, in the event of any medical crisis that might disable the chief executive.

Mrs. Johnson and their 18-year-old daughter Luci Baines spent the night at the hospital, in rooms adjoining the President's third-floor suite. Daughter Lynda Bird, 21, remained at the University of Texas in Austin, where she is a senior.

The President was smiling when he walked briskly into the hospital by a side entrance. Pausing only briefly while climbing a short flight of steps to the door, he turned and waved once to about 60 reporters and photographers who were on hand.

Moyers said Johnson was in good spirits—"He was in a very relaxed mood in the car coming out here."

During the drive to Bethesda, the President read a few of the letters and telegrams of good wishes that have flooded into the White House since Tuesday's surprise announcement of the gall bladder trouble.

One letter, from author John Steinbeck, read: "You must know that our hearts, our wishes and our prayers are with you. Bless you."

Johnson went directly to his suite where he and Mrs. Johnson chatted with Lt. Elizabeth Chapowick, a Navy nurse assigned to the White House. She ministered to Johnson when he spent 3½ days in Bethesda with a virus last January.

Then the presidential doctors, (Turn to JOHNSON, Page 6)

McNamara Claims Viet 'Stabilized'

Cites Funnelling Of More U.S. Forces; 'Tide Not Turned'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara believes the situation in Viet Nam has stabilized since the United States began funneling large numbers of U.S. troops into war, it became known today.

However, he is not yet ready to join those who say the tide has turned and that the anti-Communist side is winning.

About the most optimistic evaluation he has made is that U.S. Army, Air Force, Marine and Navy forces have made remarkable achievements and that the Communist Viet Cong have failed in their efforts to cut South Viet Nam in two and to destroy the morale of the South Vietnamese troops.

He is best described as remaining cautiously optimistic.

It is known that McNamara believes it best that the gains should not be overemphasized because much hard fighting lies ahead.

He considers it important to remember that the Communists still control large parts of South Viet Nam, that they continue to impose taxes and to draft young men from the population and that they still have the ability to cut roads and other communications linking Viet Nam cities and towns.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, told the National Security Industrial Association (Turn to McNAMARA, Page 6)

Beaver Site Offered For Atom Facility

Four sites in Western Pennsylvania have been placed before the Atomic Energy Commission at Washington as the possible location of a new $348-million atom smasher.

The Raccoon Creek area of Beaver County was one of the areas proposed when state congressional and industrial leaders met with members of the AEC.

The other sites are in Butler and Westmoreland counties. The Pennsylvania delegation has offered free land and access roads should the facility be built in the state.

Make 'Significant Contact' With Reds

U.S. Forces Use Tear Gas In Large Viet Operation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. paratroopers launched a big new operation on the fringe of the Viet Cong's "D" zone today and used non-lethal tear gas, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No further details were immediately available on the gas attack, but the spokesman said the American troops had made "significant contact" with the Viet Cong.

In a major change of policy, the field commander had been authorized before the operation to use nonlethal tear gas if he deemed it necessary. The object was to flush out the Viet Cong without wounding or killing non-combatants.

Thousands of American troops combed a densely jungled area about 30 miles north of Saigon. Australian forces supported the operation.

B52 bombers from Guam hammered the area twice before the U.S. ground offensive.

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed by helicopter and moved into the Viet Cong area in convoys along Highway 13, near the district capital of Ben Cat.

The spokesman gave no details on the fighting, but it was believed to have been heavy.

A personnel carrier hit a Viet Cong mine and overturned. Casualties were reported moderate.

The Americans also drew sniper fire as the convoy moved deeper into guerrilla territory.

U.S. spotter planes circling the skies following the B52 raids drew enemy fire, but there was no indication that any of the planes were shot down.

The operation was taking place in the same area where paratroopers of the 173rd completed a giant two-week sweep last week — the longest operation involving U.S. troops of the war.

The D Zone is a huge jungle area which the Viet Cong has dominated for years. It has been a frequent target of U.S. bombers, and American troops have been nibbling at its fringes repeatedly in recent months, looking for the Viet Cong and destroying their installations and stores.

Informed sources said the authorization to use tear gas in the operation was given by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, because it was felt that nonlethal gas was the most humane weapon that could be used in certain situations the paratroopers probably would encounter.

The Viet Cong often take cov- (Turn to VIET NAM, Page 6)

Ex-City Man Chosen For Interim Job

L. J. Pike Selected To Succeed Phillis As Superintendent

An East Palestine real estate man — formerly from East Liverpool — was named as temporary superintendent of the Columbiana County Home today, succeeding Russell Phillis who has been given a notice of discharge by the county commissioners for improper performance of duties.

Lawrence J. Pike of 138 Hamilton Ln., East Palestine, was chosen to head the home until a permanent superintendent can be selected.

The commissioners said Pike's appointment will begin at midnight tonight, when the discharge of Phillis, superintendent for seven years, becomes effective. Pike's pay will be $340 a month.

The two Democratic commissioners — R. Max Gard of Lisbon and Frank Wilson of Wellsville — advised Phillis by letter Tuesday he was being removed from office because of alleged inefficiency, drunkenness, insubordination and violations of rules.

Commissioner James Boyd, Republican, did not sign the dismissal letter.

The commissioners are uncertain on when a permanent replacement for Phillis will be named.

Phillis has declared he will fight the discharge through the Civil Service Commission and a (Turn to HOME, Page 12)

Toronto Man Killed When Struck By Car

A 61-year-old Toronto man was struck and injured fatally by an auto about 8:50 p.m. Thursday on Route 7, just south of the Toronto corporation limits, the Ohio State Highway Patrol reported today.

Cornelius Conlin of Toronto R.D. 1 was pronounced dead on arrival at Ohio Valley Hospital in Steubenville.

Ohio Highway patrolmen said Mr. Conlin was crossing the roadway in front of the Flamingo Club when he walked into the path of a northbound auto driven by James E. Montgomery, 30, of 1342 Madison Ave., Toronto.

Patrolmen are continuing the investigation.

The body was removed to the Clarke Funeral Home.

Mayor, Others To Attend Fete For Scandinavians

Mayor George E. Willshaw and other community leaders have been invited to a luncheon Tuesday noon at the Travelers Hotel in honor of a Scandinavian study team that will inspect the Homer Laughlin China Co. as part of a nationwide tour, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today.

The guest list also will include business, banking, civic and labor leaders and pottery manufacturers, the IBOP said.

In the U. S. since Oct. 1, the nine-member delegation also will visit plants manufacturing glass containers and products of fibrous glass, plastics and porcelain.

The study team will be in Carey Monday to visit the Carey Porcelain Products Co. as guests of E. G. Ryman, president.

Lester Null, third vice president of the IBOP, will escort the visitors to East Liverpool, where they will stay overnight, then inspect the Laughlin plant Tuesday morning as guests of Joseph M. Wells Jr. The luncheon will follow. It is being arranged by the IBOP.

The study team also will be accompanied by J. B. Warren of the Glass Bottle Blowers Association. Its tour will cover plants in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, in addition to the Ohio visit.

Lennart Vallstrand, a union executive in Sweden, heads the delegation. He is vice president of the International Federation of Chemical and General Workers' Union and a member of the representative board of the Confederation of Swedish Trade Unions.

Other members of the team are Ragnar Bengtsson, Sverre Enger, Henry Hanse, Sverre Hansen, Knut Johansson, Georg Juul, Paul Mattison and Karl-Erik Wiberg.

From East Liverpool, the group will proceed to Washington for an official visit, then depart for home Oct. 16.

Tass Reports Luna Crashes In Moon Shot

MOSCOW (AP) — The unmanned Soviet satellite Luna 7 hit the moon early today and Tass indicated it was a crash landing.

It was the third unsuccessful Russian attempt in six months to make history's first soft landing on the moon.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, announced that "most operations necessary for a soft landing were fulfilled during the approach to the moon."

But it added that "some operations, however, were not carried out in accordance with the program and needed additional development."

The Tass announcement was the first official indication that Luna 7 had attempted a soft landing. No specific mission for Luna 7 had been announced in advance.

Tass said the scientific instrument package landed on the moon in the area of the Ocean of the Storms, west of Kepler Crater, at 1:08 a.m. local time (6:08 p.m. EDT Thursday). The landing was on schedule.

But the Russians waited more than 13 hours to announce it, indicating that the landing had

Ohioan Cleared Of Murder After 10 Years In Prison

TROY, Ohio (AP) — Edward McMullen of Greenfield is a free man today, exonerated of a murder charge for which he spent nearly 10 years behind bars.

A Miami County Common Pleas Court jury acquitted McMullen, 38, Thursday of the murder of Grover Cleveland Chipley, a Troy furniture dealer who was slain in his backyard shop Dec. 27, 1954.

McMullen was convicted on the murder Jan. 31, 1955, and was sentenced to a life term in the Ohio Penitentiary.

The case took a strange turn two years ago when McMullen's attorney, William Thornburgh of Troy, discovered that a pistol found locked in the Troy Police Department safe appeared to be the weapon used in the Chipley slaying. The murder weapon never was introduced as evidence in McMullen's first trial.

Ballistics tests confirmed Thornburgh's suspicions.

The lawyer took his case to the Ohio Supreme Court and last July the high court ordered McMullen released on a writ of habeas corpus and sent the case back to the common pleas court.

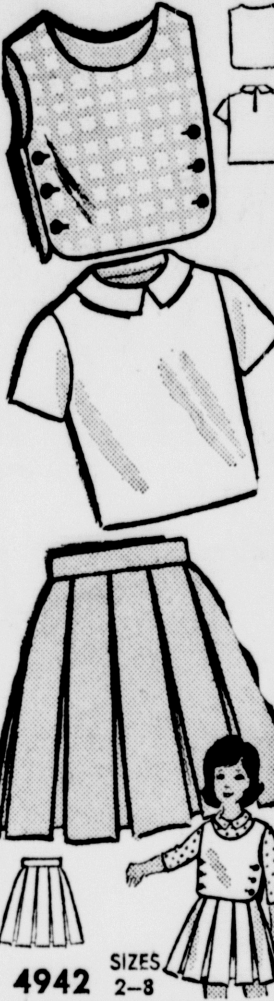

The nine-day retrial was one of the most unusual on record in that the defense introduced the murder weapon as evidence and law enforcement officials testified for the defense.

A defense witness placed McMullen in the home of his sister-in-law at Rainsboro the night of the killing.

Prosecution witnesses included a man who said he was with McMullen in Troy the night of the murder and a penitentiary convict who said McMullen admitted the killing to him.

The pistol was believed to have been taken from two holdup men who were apprehended about two months after the Chipley murder.

Arraignment Set For Ohio Woman In Boy's Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Mariann Colby faced arraignment today for first-degree murder in the death of John Cremer Young Jr., 8.

Mrs. Colby, 40-year-old Shaker Heights housewife, was indicted Thursday by the Cuyahoga County Grand Jury. She will be arraigned in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

The charge means the state will have to prove that she shot the boy with motive and intent Aug. 24 at her home—two doors away from the Young's residence.

If convicted, she could be sentenced to death in the electric chair.

After 11 days of questioning, Mrs. Colby told police that she shot the boy, but said the shooting was accidental. She told police earlier that her son, Dane—a playmate of Cremer's—shot the boy.

Cleveland Firm Eyes Liquidation Of $609 Million

CLEVELAND (AP) — The M. A. Hanna Co., the nation's oldest close-end investment company, has proposed liquidating and distributing its more than $609 million of assets to stockholders on a pro rate basis.

Gilbert W. Humphrey, chairman, said the proposal would not affect the Hanna Mining Co., an independent corporation in which M. A. Hanna has a large minority interest.

If the stockholders approve Thursday's proposal, each will receive his proportionate share of the company's net assets. As of Sept. 30, assets totaled $609.4 million, or $50.82 a share for the 9,700 stockholders.

Humphrey also announced that M. A. Hanna accepted an offer from Hanna Mining to purchase one million shares of National Steel Corp. at $58.75 a share, subject to approval by the Securities & Exchange Commission.

If two-third of the shareholders approve the liquidation plan, steps will be taken immediately and liquidation would be expected by the end of the year.

The Airport Site Dilemma

Where will Columbiana County's proposed new airport, for which the state is to provide $100,000, be located?

The more rugged terrain of the southern part of the county and the division of population and industrial centers between the Salem-Columbiana areas and the East Liverpool - Wellsville areas pose a real problem for those responsible for the selection of a satisfactory site.

The role an airport of proper length and adequate facilities can play in aiding development of present industry and attracting new industry is widely known. It was to give Columbiana County and other counties just such an advantage in improving industrial climates that the airport fund program was initiated at the state level.

Development of an airport capable of handling executive-type craft in the East Liverpool area would be of great benefit to the district's potteries, the Crucible Steel Co. and other businesses, and a real spur to our economic potential.

As badly as we would like to have it in our own backyard, the measure of benefit to the other parts of the county also must be considered in establishing a "county" airport.

It should be emphasized, however, that while we're not selfish to the point of campaigning only for the field here, neither are we so complacent that we will sit back without a fight and let it be established at a site which would represent the other extreme.

The eventual choice must be as readily accessible to this area as to any other industrial complex.

An airfield in the immediate Salem or Columbiana vicinity would be no more a "county airport" than one in Dixonville or Columbiana Park.

Norman Crabtree, state aviation director, is due in the county shortly to again survey the potential sites and to confer with the county group which will make the final selection.

Mr. Crabtree's knowledge and authority should provide him with the capacity to make an objective and proper recommendation on the best site, not only from the pilot's point of view, but from the industrial development point of view.

An airport can be established on any flat, safe acreage in the county. But that doesn't say it will be used unless it is convenient enough to its paying customers.

We hope Mr. Crabtree and the county airport group come up with a selection which in 10 years will justify their judgment.

Very Reassuring, Except . . .

It now is possible on an eeny-meeny-miney-mo basis to find hearty reassurances about the way the war is going in South Viet Nam.

Newspapers and magazines are well-supplied with battlefield reports to show the buildup of U.S. forces in Viet Nam has had the expected effect on the Viet Cong.

The Air Force is confident it is bombing all the fight out of guerrillas who don't know where the next saturation raid will occur.

Ground forces feel they have the insuperable advantage of fighting the Viet Cong with the U.S. Navy to protect their rear and are winning a war of attrition, thanks to superior supplies and tactics.

South Vietnamese troops are said to be showing evidence of stiffening morale.

Natives of South Viet Nam are showing signs of stiffer resistance to the terrorism of the Viet Cong.

ALL ALONG the line, the impression is being made that Communists now know the United States means business and will not stop until it has stopped them in Southeast Asia.

This self-serving sizeup of the situation in Viet Nam is reassuring. But one misgiving lurks among hearty reassurances that the war is taking a turn for the better.

No way exists to know how the "enemy" feels about his plight.

It is being assumed he must feel the same way the United States is being encouraged to feel. The assumption is shaky. It is based on other assumptions that are not firmly based, either.

One of these is that North Viet Nam and the Chinese People's Republic will size up the situation the same way the United States is sizing it up and conclude the war is not worth fighting; that they will ask for a truce.

Another is that Chinese troops will not be sent to Viet Nam and that North Viet Nam will not enter the war openly as a belligerent.

Still another is that Viet Cong guerrillas represent the only fighting force that will have to be routed in South Viet Nam.

WAR PSYCHOLOGY is not a predictable element.

Governments and populations do not run true to expectation. Finns did not break and run merely because Russians showed up on their na-

From Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: Don't be upset because you have begun to wonder if you're playing the role that suits you best.

Remember what Shakespeare said about all the world's being a stage and all the men and women merely players. Maybe you have forgotten what comes next . . . "And one man in his time plays many parts."

Shakespeare was talking about the seven ages, from infancy to second childhood, without teeth, without eyesight, without taste, without everything.

But aside from his idea, we all play many parts in our lifetimes. Take me, for example. My present role is that of an aging philosopher. It isn't too bad a part, except I don't always feel philosophical and I certainly don't feel old—yet.

But I remember when I was playing the part of a dynamic entrepreneur a few years ago. That was phonyer than this one. The best day I ever lived I never felt dynamic.

There's another part I play for kicks. I am a photo-image lecher. Your aunt hates me for using that word, but what I do is leer at images of females on movie screens and TV tubes.

I get a kick out of this, because in real life I never leered at anybody. I wouldn't know how. But let a photogenic doll strut by me while I am in my photo-image lecher role and I am a satyr. Yowee!

These are only a few of my roles.

I remember one for a few years I was a political activist, stirring up things around these parts like a tornado.

For a while I fancied myself as a doer of good works. If anyone asked me to serve on a committee or thump a tub, I was Johnny on the spot. That role palled on me one day in a committee meeting and I walked out on it for good.

As a young man I relished the part of a devil-may-care swain. If people had still been riding horses, I would have raised dust all over this part of the state.

As it was, I made myself a nuisance by opening the cutout on the exhaust pipe and racing the engine. This was one of the most fictional boundary in great force. The Japanese stayed full of fight until A-bombs convinced their militarists the price of continued resistance would be ruinous.

Britain did not collapse under Goering's massive aerial assaults. Turks and Greeks were not panicky at the presence of superior Russian forces.

This would be a fine time to take hearty reassurances about Viet Nam with multiple grains of salt.

It has been a long time since that apparently successful stage in the Korean War when the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur thought he would have the U.S. troops "home by Christmas." That was in the autumn of 1950.

U.S. troops are still in Korea, 15 years later. All that was gained was a tenuous truce, not a victory.

Speluncular

We share with one and all a surge of relief over the rescue of a 15-year-old boy from a cave near Hinkley, Ohio.

And having shared relief, we also share a throbbing curiosity about people who squirm into caves and get trapped. Going beyond that, we wonder about spelunkers in general. What makes them do it?

All people who explore caves as a hobby are spelunkers. If they are good at it, they don't get trapped or lost. If they are not so good, they need to be rescued. This is why some spelunkers specialize in rescuing other spelunkers.

We cannot understand any of them.

This does not condemn them, nor does it condemn us, or anyone who feels the way we feel. It merely denotes a difference in viewpoints.

We do not understand mountain climbers, either, especially ones who have to be rescued at great risk to other mountain climbers.

Nor do we understand people who flounder in water without knowing how to swim, nor hot-shots who do reckless things in autos and have to be rushed to hospitals by people with better judgment.

It is to be hoped that 15-year-old boys never will squirm into another cave and get trapped. But, let's face it, some humans are speluncular, some aren't. It takes all kinds to make a world.

profitable roles I ever played. It was during this one that I married your Aunt Effie.

I have played being a farmer, which most assuredly was not type-casting.

On a few occasions I have tried my hand at being a city slicker, which was as handy for me as a bachelor holding a baby.

I once pretended to be a school teacher. There was no demand for me in that role, either.

You begin to wonder who the real you is. That's what you're wondering, aren't you? Let me warn you.

You will never know. And if you ever did, you might not like it. Role-playing has advantages. Keeps you from facing the truth.

Your aunt sends her best, too.

COTTON CORNERS UNCLE GEORGE

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Columbiana County was pledged $300,000 in federal aid for completion of an improvement program at Swaney Airport in Madison Township if the county acquired the 63-acre tract.

Local and district fans were paying off their bets as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Chicago Cubs in the sixth and final game of the World Series. The Tigers, by their triumph, captured the series four games to two.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Dr. Francis R. Harrison, former city health commissioner, was appointed to the newly-created post of school physician by the Board of Education.

Sgt. Clyde E. Winters, who was captured by the Japanese when Corregidor fell in May 1942, was liberated and was en route home, according to a telegram from Manila received here.

TEN YEARS AGO — Raymond Searight was elected master of the Hookstown Grange.

The Military Order of Cooties, fun organization of the VFW, announced plans to collect toys for the city's needy children for presentation at Christmas.

Teachers Union Turns To Financing

By Victor Riesel

Militant leaders of the Teachers' Union are planning some fanciful financing. They're floating a bond issue — replete with interest.

"You might say," one of the union's spokesmen said the other day, "we're printing our own money. We need a million dollars to sign up a million members."

Bonds of the American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) will sell for $10 to $10,000. For $10 the member who buys a certificate will get only satisfaction. For $1,000 there's 6 per cent interest on the five year bonds.

In all, the embattled teachers expect to take in $250,000 for their debentures — and borrow a good deal of the deficit from their good friend Walter Reuther. Not personally, that is. He has pledged them at least another quarter million dollars out of the treasury of the little known Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO, whose cup runneth over with money and crack manpower.

IT'S NOT STRANGE that the militants of the old CIO should pledge support and put the money on the line. Professional groups have long been among Reuther's objectives and the Teachers' Union leaders, though younger, are his philosophical companions.

They are pushing their way through the vast white collar field as Reuther once did through the non-union industrial underbrush. They have called daring strikes — such as "pulling" the vast New York City school system.

They have sat-in, as they did last April in the Hamtramck (Mich.) Copernicus Junior High School, not far from Reuther's first auto sit-in.

They have dispatched their own picket squads to bolster other professionals on militant picket lines — such as the New York City Welfare Department employees in a long, cold and bitter struggle.

THEY HAVE HAD cooperation from other industrial unions — such as the United Rubber Workers when they moved on the Akron, O., school board.

Most of their leaders across the land are young by labor standards, such as the New York Teachers Federation president Al Shanker. His master's degree in philosophy has not erased the impact of his parents, both of whom were trade unionists. He is 38 and one of the new breed of labor militants to whom will go the job of national labor leadership in a decade or so.

He and his colleagues are self-assured, but they did not stride into their early campaigns without experienced field commanders at their side. One of the latter — another about whom the nation soon will be talking — is Jack Conway.

For 15 years he was executive aid to Reuther. More recently he helped weld the "poverty" machine together for Sargent Shriver. Now he has returned to the labor movement as executive director of the Industrial Union Dept.

IT WAS HE who worked alongside the original Teachers' Union leadership when they first launched a drive against the massive New York City school system. By actual count, Jack Conway put in 300 hours of negotiations in the campaign which gave the United Federation of Teachers their first breakthrough in New York — and some 40,000 members eventually.

Once again Conway, a brilliant strategist, is behind them. Thus, theirs is not a random drive. Their early "concentration states" are California, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Louisiana and Connecticut. Their first targets will be the big cities, now that they have succeeded in breaking through in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Hartford.

Mark this campaign well. It is but the early chapter of a thick history. The teachers' national president, bantam Charles Cogen, reports that the school systems in the smaller cities now will go like the big ones in a series of union selection elections.

THE NATIONAL MEMBERSHIP is edging up towards 200,000. Each victory adds thousands more. Just as the old CIO drives on the auto and steel fronts unleashed a fever which spread to other mass industries in the '30s, the school teachers and their college instructors and professional allies, will infect masses of white collar employees of state and regional governments.

It's the early day of a new era. It will add a new dimension to labor — and to modern education as well.

Amateurs Are Ransacking The Past

By Raymond Moley

There seems to be sweeping through the academic world, especially in the history departments, a passion for collecting and examining the letters and other written material of people who had any part, even a minor one, in past public affairs.

For a long time professors and professional historians have regarded these memorabilia as most valuable basic material for history writing, and to a large extent they have been right. But the hot pursuit has been joined by less mature people, candidates for the MA and the PhD. A professor told me recently that even undergraduates have been sent packing to the Library of Congress to get material for term papers.

THE PRESSURE of college administrators who regard published articles or books as more of a qualification for appointment or promotion than a capacity to teach has accelerated the hunt. For it isn't so difficult, by using long quotations from letters and such sources, for the writer to make a long article or a thick book out of a rather inconsequential incident. And the popularity of this sort of "research" has caused college librarians to solicit collected "papers" from all and sundry who in any way have been associated with past events.

No doubt, this passion to embalm the written material of people who lived in the past has been heated up by the building of libraries containing the papers of various Presidents. Since the Roosevelt library was established at Hyde Park, we have had the libraries of Truman, Eisenhower and Hoover, and there will be a Kennedy building at Harvard. Surely there will rise more stately repositories on the banks of the Pedernales.

I SEE NO OBJECTION to these memorials, except that the problem of traveling from place to place is a burden on the serious historian. It would have been better to have had all these papers, which for the most part are the legitimate property of the nation, in the Library of Congress.

But unrestricted access to the many collections of papers of lesser figures present serious problems. For not only the material written by the people directly concerned, but the letters which others have written to them are thus embalmed for all time and for all to see.

This suggests a warning to anyone who writes to a public figure. For in many cases the public individual concerned had little or no opportunity to cull out of his files the irrelevant and unfortunate material before he died.

In one instance the "papers" of a distinguished senator were boxed up and sent to the Library of Congress. Included in this mass of stuff there appeared an empty whisky bottle. This item might be pounced upon by the immature, amateur historian as a profoundly revealing commentary on the time and on the individual who consumed it.

GREAT SUMS are forthcoming from individuals and foundations for this collecting of "papers." A lifetime of labor and a considerable fortune were given by W. S. Lewis to the publication of more than 30 volumes of the correspondence, journals, books and other material left by Horace Walpole.

Walpole was the irresponsible son of the famous, powerful and corrupt Sir Robert Walpole, who headed the British government for a long time in the 18th century. One questions whether this expenditure was worthwhile. For all that material is not a reflection of the public or private life of the time, but the impressions of a not very reliable witness who, as a reviewer of this work recently said, "lived at the heart of nothing important" in his time.

Greater responsibility is the answer to this present craze for collecting and writing about collecting. The people who are in charge of these collections must exercise care in granting access and, within the limits of reason, cull them out so that what is available to writers is really vested with a public interest rather than mere irrelevant private matters.

Back Incentive

By David Lawrence

Red Economic Changes Reviewed

Out of the welter of news dispatches and comments analyzing the recent changes in the Soviet's economic system, one fact stands out — incentive has been recognized as essential to more and better production. This doesn't mean that the Russians have turned all the way toward capitalism or even any considerable distance in that direction but it illustrates the almost insurmountable difficulty that arises in trying to harmonize the object of theoretical socialism with the realistic truths of economic progress.

David Lawrence

The net result could be more confusion and even less improvement, thus causing more discontent inside the Soviet Union. At least the Soviet rulers and Communist leaders have come to realize that a vast population cannot be regulated entirely from the Kremlin and that there must be some concessions made to human nature and individualism.

The London Times, in an editorial interprets the change as an effort by the Moscow government "to devise a system which would enable it to retain sufficient central control to ensure the fulfillment of national goals and at the same time permit enough local initiative to promote efficiency."

The editorial adds: "Controls over the size of the labor force will be abolished, and bonus schemes made easier. Output plans, however, will continue to be set from above, investment capital will be allocated from the center, and prices will be fixed. This means that the 'profits' so often referred to at the Central Committee will be very different from those under capitalism."

"All the talk of profits and market forces, it seems, has given rise to strong pressures for scrapping administrative controls altogether. Once again, the administrative response has been to try to streamline the existing scheme rather than risk releasing forces which it might be difficult to keep in bounds. Russia goes on swinging from one tack to another."

The London Daily Telegraph takes this view: "The present changes are recognizing what in part already exists. More important, they amount to a repudiation of the Marxist doctrine that all value derives from labor, and a move towards accepting, in however disguised a form, the capitalist concepts of rent, interest, profit, markets and prices. How encouraging to see the Soviets making a dash for economic freedom! It would be ironic if Britain should choose this moment to move in the opposite direction."

IT'S THE SAME story everywhere, whether it's in the program of the Socialist Labor party in Britain for nationalization of industry, or in the advocacy of collective coercion in this country through the use of federal funds or by compulsory unionization as the price of a job.

It becomes clear that eventually there can be no individual freedom if the law makers ignore human nature and incentives to efficiency.

Letters To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

On Saturday, Oct. 2, I took two children, ages 8 and 12, to a nearby drive-in to see two movies advertised as suitable entertainment for young people. The two films were fine. It was the coming attractions shown between the films that were objectionable.

These previews were for two films of such extraordinary bad taste that I had the children cover their eyes and turn off the sound. I realize pictures of this caliber appeal to a particular group of people — and they have every right to see such films if they find them entertaining. But it seems a shame these previews are shown at a time when children constitute the major portion of the audience.

Many parents are cautious about the films their children are permitted to see. But what can be done about objectionable previews? Nothing, I guess.

I am not about to start a campaign for clean movies. Others have tried and failed. The point I wish to make is this, if you preview the movies your children attend, you had better preview the previews, too.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I am writing in response to Leona Brown's letter. It made me very angry and I would like to give my side of the story.

To begin with, most normal dogs aren't destructive, and especially are not dirty. I own a dog and should know.

Dogs should have tests every so often. People who don't care enough about their dogs to do this small thing shouldn't own dogs.

About chaining dogs. My dog is chained part time, only because of my parents. I ask Mrs. Brown how she would like to spend half her life on the end of a chain! Chaining alone can make a dog go mad.

Many people buy dogs for their children. This is okay, but remember dogs aren't playthings. They, as well as people, have to be shown some respect.

I know my letter will have no effect (it probably won't even be printed) but I wanted to give my viewpoint.

Motorists Unhurt In Area Mishaps

A district driver escaped injury when his car was struck in the rear by a station wagon on Route 30 Thursday afternoon, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Thomas Bostwick, 63, of R. D. 3 slowed to make a left turn about three miles south of West Point and his 1959 coach was hit by a 1961 station wagon operated by Francis J. Brickner, 42, of Lisbon R. D. 2.

There was slight damage to the two vehicles, according to officers, who cited Brickner for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Ray Willis Wright, 26, of Newton Falls escaped injury when his 1960 convertible veered into a ditch along Route 45, a mile north of Wellsville early yesterday morning.

led by Hallenbeck, trooped in and carried out a routine pre-operative examination.

Earlier, the doctors had reported Johnson's respiration and pulse precisely normal. His weight, as of Tuesday, was 202 pounds — down 15 to 20 pounds from a month or so ago.

The gall bladder was described as the President's only current medical difficulty.

"We see absolutely no problems," said Dr. James C. Cain, Johnson's family doctor and a Mayo consultant.

Hallenbeck said there is absolutely no evidence of any malignancy. The doctors said, however, they would explore all internal organs exposed during surgery.

All of them said Johnson's physical well-being would not be affected at all by the absence of a gall bladder.

Hallenbeck said that after the operation, the President would have considerable pain for a while and would need some sedatives — certainly during the first 24 hours.

Johnson's hospital stay is forecast for 10 to 14 days, to be followed by several weeks of reduced activity during recuperation either at the White House or, perhaps, his Texas ranch.

ciation Thursday "we are doing well" in Viet Nam and "we are taking advantage of our progress to do even better."

U.S. forces in Viet Nam, which numbered only about 23,000 at the start of 1965 are about to top 140,000. And this is not the end of the buildup.

Meanwhile, the U.S. government apparently is trying to prod the Communist North Vietnamese to the negotiating table by stressing the theme that the North Vietnamese are shedding blood to further the aims of Communist China.

In a speech to the same association Thursday night, Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance called on the Hanoi regime to "ponder whether its future is best secured by fully submerging its own separate interest to Peking."

Vance, second in command at the Pentagon, noted that Red Chinese Defense Minister Lin Biao recently declared that the war in Viet Nam is the focus of a worldwide revolutionary movement against the United States and that Red China is determined to drive U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

"But it is not Peking that is fighting in Viet Nam; it is Hanoi," Vance said.

He declared that Chinese Communist party chairman Mao Tse-tung "is not risking his own troops to achieve his ends."

The whole point of Mao's doctrine, Vance said, is that the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong fighting inside South Viet Nam "should reject any offers of reasonable settlement or negotiations; that they should be prepared to wage a prolonged and dirty war" whatever the cost in North Vietnamese blood and well being.

Vance renewed the U.S. government's offer to negotiate now without any preconditions.

At the same time, he warned Red China and North Viet Nam that South Viet Nam and the United States "will not be defeated by Communist aggression from the north."

GOP Urged To Fight For City Victories

SALEM — Strong local action by Republicans as a first step toward national party victory was urged by John S. Andrews, Ohio Republican state chairman, at a rally attended by 450 Thursday night at the Memorial Building.

Andrews stressed the importance of work by young members of the party.

He declared mayors, councilmen and township trustees are the backbone of the party and urged all workers to campaign throughout Columbiana County to elect GOP candidates.

Andrews, Luca County chairman before succeeding Ray Bliss last spring, declared Republicans could take an example from Gov. James Rhodes and put Ohio into the GOP column by maintaining a pledge of no new taxes.

Among county officials attending were State Rep. Clarence Wetzel, Judge Joel H. Sharp, Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis, Sheriff Russell VanFossan and County Commissioner James Boyd.

Women from the six GOP clubs in the county served refreshments. Charles Pike, county chairman, presided.

12 To 14% Rate Hike Scheduled For Blue Cross

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Insurance Supt. William R. Morris said today his department probably will fix a rate increase for Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio of 12 to 14 per cent.

Morris emphasized that the exact figure has not been determined but gave strong indication the boost would fall short of the 18.6 per cent requested by Blue Cross in its original application Aug. 17.

He planned to meet in Cleveland later today with officials of the health insurance organization to discuss the figures along with some other related matters, he said.

Blue Cross scheduled Oct. 15 as effective date of the increase with the apparent thought that the state insurance department would act on the request in about a month, Morris said.

Later, the state decided to take the full 90-day statutory period to study the rates, making the earliest effective date Nov. 15. The superintendent said Blue Cross then indicated it would need an increase of about 20 per cent to compensate for the delay.

Morris said he hopes to resolve the matter before the Nov. 15 date at which time the 18.6 per cent boost would take effect without his approval.

er among noncombatant civilians, many times among women and children, in the trench systems, underground bunkers and holes that dot much of the countryside. How to deal with the enemy under these conditions of guerrilla warfare and with a minimum of danger to the non-combatants has been a major problem for U.S. commanders.

The authorization for the paratroopers to use tear gas in the operation that kicked off today does not mean a blanket order has been issued covering all U.S. ground action. Each situation will be decided on an individual basis.

The paratroopers were equipped with tear-gas grenade canisters. They also had four "Mighty Mite" blower machines that can force tear gas or smoke into underground shelters.

The use of tear gas in Viet Nam became a controversial issue after it was reported in March that nonlethal gas had been used experimentally in field operations.

Helicopters dropped tear-gas canisters on Dec. 23 and again on Dec. 25 in areas where it was believed the Viet Cong were holding U.S. prisoners. The Viet Cong had moved out of the areas and there was no contact.

Nonlethal gas was again used in January against Viet Cong in heavily fortified positions with noncombatants among them. It resulted in what was termed only a marginal success.

stormed Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader. "We need a responsible minority desperately, but we don't have it. We have a frustrated minority."

The bill that emerged from the 14-hour session resembled closely one passed a few weeks ago by the Senate. Minor differences will have to be reconciled before Congress completes action.

The bill would require states to set up effective controls to ban billboards and junkyards on all interstate and primary roads outside of areas zoned or used commercially.

The Democrats used their big majority to cut short debate so that many Republican amendments were voted on with only a few seconds available for explanation, or no time at all. This made the Republicans even angrier.

"This is a dangerous way for Congress to consider amendments," said Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin. "The majority should be more interested in preserving the rights of the minority than in trying to give a present to Mrs. Johnson."

Aides In 4-H Announced At Adviser Rally

LISBON — Council representatives in 4-H were announced for 1966-67 during the Columbiana County 4-H advisers' banquet Thursday night at Crestview School.

The representatives and their clubs are:

South area: Mrs. Martha Serafy of No. 16 Agriculture and Gloria Baker of Elkton Merry Maids.

Northeast area: Henry Long of the Lisbon Hi Riders and Dave Wilhelm of Beaver Creek 4-H'ers.

West area: Mrs. Frank Hahn of West Township Jolly Girls and Judy Zimmerman of Silver Thimble No. 2.

Speaker at the banquet was John Benincasa of Alliance, whose subject was "The Whole Man." He stressed individuality and decisions individuals must make for themselves.

The Elkton Merry Maids quartet sang and Mrs. Ruth Sanor of Salem R.D. 1 gave a reading. Walter Holmes of Winona, chairman of the County Extension Advisory Council, was the toastmaster.

The Crestview Band Mothers served the dinner.

been unsuccessful. Successful shots are announced quickly.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's big Jodrell Bank radio telescope, said all evidence indicated that the unmanned moon rocket had destroyed itself on hitting the moon.

Lovell said signals from Luna 7 stopped at 6:08 p.m. (EDT) Thursday, the time the Russians had said the space vehicle would hit the moon.

"It is impossible to do more than guess at what, if anything, has gone wrong," he said, adding that the possibility that there might be an instrument package on the moon which survived the crash could not be excluded.

"But at the moment, if there should be, we have received no signal from it," Sir Bernard said. "We should be surprised if (the Russians) announced that there was anything but a crash landing."

The Russians never announced the mission of Luna 7, but it was assumed to be a soft landing — one in which the space vehicle would remain intact and radio back information about the moon's surface. This is a key step toward landing a man on the moon.

The Soviet Union tried a soft landing at least twice before Luna 7. The United States plans to make its first attempt in January.

"Our assumption was that the Russians intended to make a soft landing of instruments on the lunar surface," Sir Bernard said. "On that assumption the final stages of firing the retro-rockets were only partially successful."

Retro-rockets are used as a brake to slow down the space vehicle prior to landing.

During Kiwanis Meeting

Firmer Moral Standards Are Called For By Pastor

The need to offer youth a new challenge of morality was described by Blair Whittington, pastor of the Second Church of Christ, at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

The minister, who has served at Youth Guidance Centers at McKeesport and New Castle, said there is a growth of juvenile problems across the nation as the result of a lack of discipline, a want of respect for authority.

"This reaches into all homes, all levels of society, and it is the fault of all of us—the church, the parents, the educators."

He said there is an immorality which has developed because of the tendency for our generation to casually disregard standards — "If Dad can cheat a little on his taxes, why shouldn't I cheat a little?"

The minister also said there is an overemphasis of sex in our society, reflected in advertising and in other aspects of our lives, reaching into the schools.

Young people of today want discipline, they want authority, even though they claim they want "freedom," he went on. "If you think you have no problems here, ask your school leaders, your teachers. We have to do something, we can't just let 'George do it'."

"We must return to the principles we formerly had, and Mom and Dad must assume the responsibilities which they had," he declared. "We need respect for parents and for law enforcement."

"We have cars, TV and prosperity, but we have lost something of our former national stature, and I hope we can regain it before it is too late."

"We are certainly thankful we have a great number of good young people, and we should not forget the problems we faced when we were young."

"But we must think about this growing trend of disregard for authority and declining morality, and determine what we can do as individuals and organizations."

Mr. Whittington was introduced by Alex Kidd, president.

Harold Allison announced the club will sponsor a rummage sale Oct. 28-30 in a storeroom at E. 6th and Washington Sts.

Roger Cloud, newly-appointed Ohio auditor, will speak at next week's meeting, Kidd reported.

King Termed In Control Of Georgia Drive

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (AP)

—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who had his worst setback three years ago in Georgia, emerged today in control of the civil rights drive in this small town after a power struggle with political implications.

Negroes involved in the Tallapoosa County school integration push voted overwhelmingly Thursday night at a mass meeting to turn over control of the movement to King and his Southern Christian Leadership Conference — and to continue demonstrations.

Another attempt to integrate school buses was scheduled today.

"As far as I am concerned, the movement is out of my hands now," said Calvin Turner, the local Negro leader, at the mass meeting. "It is now in the hands of SCLC and Dr. King."

In a similar vein, Chairman W. E. Watson of the County Commission told newsmen that the dispute was out of local control. "Nobody is going to move in any direction until a moratorium is observed, until good faith is shown," he said.

Watson said Negro leaders have shown that they do not want a settlement.

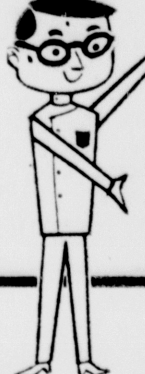

Watson had joined with Gov. Carl E. Sanders in calling for a halt to demonstrations.

Turner asked for a show of hands on the question of control at Thursday night's meeting. Nearly all the approximately 150 Negroes voted for King and his SCLC.

The significance of this action lies in the fact that the governor and State Sen. Leroy Johnson of Atlanta, a Negro, had sought to solidify Georgia Negro leaders in a more moderate course that would have halted demonstrations—and blocked SCLC.

SCLC leaders, particularly Hosea Williams, the director of political education, said Johnson would not be a spokesman for the civil rights movement. Williams has charged the governor with a political play linked to his reported intentions of seeking a U.S. Senate seat next year. King has a Monday visit to Crawfordville scheduled. It was in 1962 that King, winner of the 1964 Nobel Peace prize, lost his first major, mass demonstration campaign against segregation in Albany, Ga.

47 Honored At Westgate In Scholar Achievement

Thirty 8th-graders and 17 9th-graders were presented certificates for academic achievement for the last semester of the past school year during exercises Thursday morning at Westgate School.

To receive honor recognition, a student must maintain an average of "A" in three major subjects and a "B" in the fourth, Milton Watson, assistant principal who presided, pointed out.

The program included pledge of allegiance; singing of the national anthem, with Amy Cartwright at the piano, and selections by the Westgate Band under the direction of Don Addams.

Brief talks were given by Sheila Ludwig and William Brown, members of the National Honor Society of the high school. They stressed the importance of "doing one's best" and the satisfaction that comes from "a job well done."

Students receiving awards were:

Eighth grade — Elizabeth Beatty, Leigh Ann Bernstorff, Rhonda Bolton, Janet Brown, Larry Carter, Joyce Cole, Mark Emmerling, Robert Farnsworth, Cathy Ferguson, Colleen Fitzgerald, Donald Fouse, Dianne

Maplewood Man Hurt By Unknown Assailant

A 44-year-old Maplewood man told police he suffered a small laceration on the left side of the face when attacked by an unknown assailant Thursday night at 6:50 as he walked on St. Clair Ave.

Kenneth Goodman, 607 Elson St., told Patrolman Robert B. Pyle an unidentified youth attacked him without provocation. Goodman walked to headquarters to report the assault, but declined an offer of medical assistance, officers reported.

Goodman said his assailant was 17 or 18 years old, stands 5 feet 10 inches and weighs 150. The youth was wearing a red jacket and black trousers, he said.

5 Arrested In Raids In Numbers Racket

CINCINNATI (AP)—A massive series of raids on suspected numbers racket operations in Cincinnati and suburban communities Thursday resulted in five arrests.

Two of the suspects, John H. McNair, 62, and Mrs. Hazel Lites, 37, were arrested by Internal Revenue Service agents. Delbert Skeens, chief of the intelligence division of the local IRS, said they were the main operators in the ring hit by the raids.

Both were charged with failure to buy a federal wagering stamp.

Three other persons were arrested by Cincinnati police and charged with promoting a game of chance.

Police and federal agents raided ten places and Skeens said they seized $5,000 to $6,000 in cash.

Your Contribution Aids The Boy Scouts

More than 1,200 boys are developing skills and character in the Boy Scout program in the East Liverpool area, with 352 adult leaders serving as volunteer instructors and guides.

Scouting, for which the United Fund has budgeted $13,500, provides camping, special activities, leadership training, field service, area headquarters, professional executives and national assistance.

In this district there are 35 different Scout, Cub and Explorer units, all providing the unique youth development program for which Scouting has been noted for many years.

Donald Ramsey, Scoutmaster of Troop 60 of St. Ann's Catholic Church, is shown with Dave Hargraves, senior patrol leader.

The continuing growth of Scouting in the area insures a successful program of training of youth as future citizens and leaders for every community.

Woman Pays Fine In Crash

Mrs. Cora Ollis of the Y. & O. Rd. was fined $25 and costs today in Municipal Court on a charge filed by the State Highway Patrol after a two-car crash Tuesday afternoon on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd., a tenth of a mile outside the Wellsville city limits.

Mrs. Ollis pleaded guilty before Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp on a charge that she "turned her vehicle from a direct course without exercising due care."

The patrol alleged that she turned from the left lane to the right lane, hitting the side of a car in the right lane. Mrs. Ollis told the judge she made the turn because she encountered a sign calling for one-lane traffic.

Allen B. Keyser, 33, of 1077 Claiborne St. forfeited a $32.50 bond on a charge of operating an auto without a driver's license. He was cited this morning at 5:24 on Elizabeth St., police said.

The judge granted a continuance until Monday morning in the case of Norma Helen Blakeley of McCoy Ave., cited by the patrol Sept. 24 after her auto went off McCoy Ave.

She is charged with driving at a speed too great for existing road and weather conditions. She pleaded not guilty at arraignment Thursday and her case was continued until today. The second continuance was set up today to arrange the appearance of the arresting officer.

The woman also was fined yesterday on a charge of driving an auto without an operator's permit growing out of the same mishap.

7 Boys Enter Jaycee Derby

Seven boys have entered the soap box derby which the Junior Chamber of Commerce will conduct Saturday afternoon on Mayberry Ln.

It will begin at 1 p.m., with trophies being awarded the winner. Tait Hilbert, chairman, said. Practice runs will be permitted over the course starting at 11 a.m.

Boys must be between 9 and 15, have parental consent and pay a 50-cent entry fee prior to the race to help cover the cost of insuring the participants.

Other rules provide the combined weight of the car and driver must not exceed 250 pounds, cars must be home-made and equipped with manual steering, wheels between 6 and 12 inches in diameter and either drag or disc-type brakes.

Professor Talks To Sheep Group

SALEM — Basic principles of animal nutrition were discussed during a meeting Tuesday night of Columbiana, Mahoning sheep producers in the Farmers National Bank Community Room here.

The speaker, Dr. Jack Cline, professor of animal science at Ohio State University, pointed out that some of the common problems of sheep management could be prevented by correcting nutritional deficiencies.

Speaking at the meeting next week will be Dr. William Tzynick, also a professor of animal science at Ohio State, who will discuss practices to follow in feeding brood ewes and lambs.

This is the first school of this type offered to the approximately 250 sheep producers in the two-county area. Cooperative Extension Service officials said those interested still may enroll for the course by contacting the Cooperative Extension Service in Lisbon.

Court And Title Figures Listed

LISBON — A total of $6,832 was paid in September to the county treasurer in fees collected in Common Pleas Court and the Car Title Department, according to the monthly report by Carl L. Stacey, clerk of courts.

The figure is an increase of $24 over the amount for September 1964.

Eighty-eight civil cases were filed, an increase of 19 cases over September 1964.

In the title department, total cash received was $5,283.50, with the county receiving $3,998.75 and the state, $1,284.75.

The title department issued 3,513 auto titles, 31 duplicate titles, 803 memorandums, six duplicate memorandums, 1,355 notations of liens, 1,179 cancellations of liens and 1,044 acknowledgments.

The state treasurer was paid $5,643.66 from the collection of sales and use tax and $47,088.23 from the collection of the dealers' tax, with the county receiving $532.63 for its 1 per cent poundage fee.

There were titles issued for 461 new vehicles in county.

Morals Investigation Evidence To Be Sifted

YOUNGSTOWN — Evidence compiled in the investigation into the use of a state roadside park at Lake Milton for immoral purposes will be placed before the Mahoning County prosecutor next week, Capt. Orlando Di Lullo, who conducted the inquiry, announced today.

The Mahoning County sheriff's office had reported earlier it planned to make several arrests in the next few days among the 200 men suspected.

Several of the 200 came from as far as Chicago, Sheriff Ray T. Davis said.

Incidents of bribes offered to investigators were reported and will be among details discussed by sheriff's representatives in a meeting with the district attorney Monday.

The men who frequented the spot were reported to have done so during the last six months. Thirty suspects questioned and released, in addition to those from Chicago gave addresses in western Pennsylvania, Salem, Alliance, Canfield, Canton, Warren, Hubbard, Akron, Columbus, Massillon, Cleveland, Barberton, Campbell, Youngstown and Newton Falls.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My father-in-law has been a widower since 1955. We hoped he would marry one of the fine women he has been taking out because soon he will be 60 years of age.

Last night he brought over a knock-kneed blonde who wore white lipstick, no eyebrows and a red dress cut down to her navel. His first words were, "Meet the wife."

My husband almost passed out. Finally he said, "Are you Dizzy Doris?" She giggled and answered, "Yes, but you can call me Mother."

Ann, my husband used to go to school with that girl. She is two years younger than he is. He couldn't stand her then and he doesn't want her in our house now. I'm trying to keep peace in the family. Please help me.—BEFUDDLED.

Dear B: Since Doris obviously is your father-in-law's choice, Dizzy though she may be, you both should accept her.

Keep the relationship on an invitation-only basis. Follow the directions on the jar of salad dressing. "Keep cool, but don't freeze."

No Oath Necessary

Dear Ann: I am a girl 17. Last Sunday our preacher's sermon was on teen-age drinking. He asked all teen-agers to come to the front of the church and swear before God that they would not drink liquor before they reached their 21st birthday.

I do not drink and I don't plan to—even after I am 21—but I didn't feel like going up there in front of all those people.

Last night four kids who took the oath bought a bottle of whiskey and got loaded after a ball game. I was disgusted with them. They will all be in church Sunday like nothing happened.

This morning my mother said she was disappointed in me because I didn't take the oath. She wants me to do it tomorrow. I don't want to. What is your opinion?—NO HYPOCRITE.

Dear No: The only thing about an oath that matters is whether or not you keep it. Some people need an incentive—like a public declaration. Others need nothing except a strong set of convictions.

If you don't feel comfortable about taking the oath, don't do it. From the tone of your letter I'd bet my bottom dollar on you—oath or no oath.

Reawakening

Dear Ann: You won't print my letter because it goes against your advice, which is O.K. for light reading but people can't live by it.

After 18 year of marriage I was bored with my wife, the kids, my in-laws and our Tuesday night bridge game. I met a young woman who made me feel like I had some red blood in my veins. We managed to get together four nights a week. We took some nice little trips.

Some big mouth told my wife. She made it plain she wasn't going to break up our home just because I was off my nut. She said she hoped I regained my senses before the kids got wind of what was going on. After a few months the fire was out. When I told my wife her only comment was, "It's about time."

I know now I'll never step out again. My wife handled it just right. She didn't throw a fit or nag me, she just let me run out my string. Now everyone is happy and no one was hurt. So you see, I do have a point. Don't I?—BUSTER.

Dear Buster: Yes, you've got a point but if you comb your hair over to the side it may not show.

Okay, so your wife didn't slash her wrists. That doesn't mean she didn't agonize plenty. You are lucky to have a woman who had the strength and courage to ride out the storm. Luckier than you deserve.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pension Granted To 50 Potters In Joint Agreement

Fifty pension applications have been approved for employees in the generalware branch under the pension agreement that has been in effect three years between the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters and employers represented by the U. S. Potters Association.

The union, announcing the action, said the payments were granted when the joint pension committee of the two organizations acted this week upon applications filed in the last year with Don Mackey, administrator.

The union also announced that Leonard Greco of Beaver Falls, seventh vice president, has been named an IBOP member of the pension committee to replace James Slaven, who retired recently as third vice president.

The other union representatives are E. L. Wheatley, president, Charles F. Jordan, secretary, Wallace Green of Local 51 in Canonsburg and Carl Warning of Local 320 in East Liverpool.

Management is represented by John Thompson of the Hall China Co., Fred Henderson of Royal China at Sebring, Burchfield Cartwright of the Homer Laughlin China Co. and Joe Greenwood of the Salem China Co.

Court Faces Job Deciding If U.S. Is At War In Viet

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Summit County Common Pleas Court faces the burden of deciding if the United States is at war in Viet Nam.

A civil suit filed Thursday by Mrs. Marian Kea of Akron is against the American Life Insurance Co. of Waco, Tex., for $10,000. She claims the company failed to pay her when her husband, Air Force Capt. Andrew Kea, was killed in an accident in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Kea said the company knew when the policy was taken out last April 1 that her husband was on active duty with the Air Force.

But the insurance company claims the accidental death benefits are excluded by a policy provision when death results during war—whether or not war is declared.

James R. Hinton, Mrs. Kea's attorney, said the suit raises the question of whether Kea died during a war or an armed aggression.

He was killed May 16 at Bien Hoa Air Base in Viet Nam when an airplane on the flight line accidentally exploded.

New Retail Sales Courses To Start Here On Monday

The first of two courses to train retail sales people will be started Monday afternoon at East Liverpool High School under the Manpower Development and Training Act. Charles Boso, manager of the Ohio State Employment Service office, said today.

Meanwhile, the MDTA Advisory committee headed by William H. Smith of the Smith & Phillips Co. will meet soon to explore the possibility of holding refresher courses for clerks, typists and clerk-stenographers. The sales training course will be held from 4 to 10 p. m. Monday through Friday for five weeks, with Dean Forsythe and David Wern the instructors. Twenty will be enrolled.

A similar class for 20 more unemployed people will begin in about three weeks, Boso said. The classes are being overlapped in order to complete training in time to provide trained sales personnel for the Christmas shopping season, he added. Continuing demands for clerktypists and clerk-stenographers indicate the shortages of qualified applicants in these and related fields.

The classes, if held, will use the facilities of the Ohio Valley Business College, Smith said.

Members of the advisory committee are Smith, E. R. Chandler, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Joseph E. Reed, Columbiana County service officer, public representatives; Floyd B. Jividen of the Trades and Labor Council and Andrew Myers Jr., executive secretary of the Carpenters District Council serving nine counties, labor.

Norman A. Heath of the Hall China Co., Leonard Kupchinsky of the Louthan Division of the Ferro Corp., Thomas W. Phillips of the D. M. Ogilvie & Co., and Darrell C. Seraty of the Patterson Industries, Inc., management; Asst. Supt. George W. Hargraves, education, and Robert W. Bycroft, county welfare director, welfare.

Serving as consultants to the committee are Vernon A. Walrath, coordinator of the diversified cooperative training program at ELHS; Merle Hempel of Youngstown, apprenticeship and training representative of the U. S. Department of Labor; Boso, and Mrs. Ilene Dobson, Manpower Development representative at the OSES office.

Union Continues Drive For Aid In Hurricane Loss

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it will send a direct appeal to all its subordinate unions asking aid for about 50 members of Local 220 in New Orleans who lost their homes and other property when Hurricane Betsy struck Louisiana.

Lester Null, a vice president of the IBOP sent on a personal inspection trip, reported he was "stunned" by the havoc and urged the international to "give all possible assistance" to the stricken potters.

The IBOP said approximately 51 members of Local 220 lost their homes and have little hope of recovering any of the loss from insurance. The estimated total loss to the IBOP members was $150,000 to $200,000.

The potters are quartered temporarily in warehouses, factories and other vacant buildings. The IBOP said several of its locals already have forwarded substantial contributions for the relief fund.

Cardinal Cushing Due For Operation Soon

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, 70, says he is planning to be operated on soon for the second time this year, this time for a growth on the back of his neck.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston told newsmen his doctors "are not alarmed about it," but that the growth rubs against his collar and irritates him.

Church Sessions Attended By 482

A total of 482 delegates from 96 churches attended the fall sub-district sessions of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Steubenville District Wednesday at East Palestine and Thursday at Toronto.

The theme was "Living In Such An Age," with the principal speaker Mrs. Francis E. Kearns of Canton, wife of the bishop of the Ohio - East area. Her topic was "More Than We Are."

AT THE Centenary Methodist Church of East Palestine, the organ prelude was offered in the morning by Mrs. Clyde Bennett. The Rev. Thomas Hammetton, pastor, gave the call to worship and morning prayer. Mrs. William Herriott, president of the hostess WSCS and general chairman of the event, gave the welcome.

Mrs. Francis H. Lang, district president, conducted business. Mrs. William Dunlap of Wintersville, district secretary of missionary education, reported on the progress of Rosemary Tope, a missionary sponsored by the Steubenville District, who is to be commissioned in November.

"Footsteps In The Sands Of Time" was chosen by Mrs. Lewis Call of Bergholz, secretary of membership cultivation in commemoration of the silver anniversary. She honored former district officers and charter members and reviewed the growth and heritage of the WSCS in its 25 years.

A song, composed for the occasion, was sung by the group. The late Mrs. Claude Ruckman was the first president. Mrs. H. T. Williams is a present conference officer. Mrs. L. Harold Nelson, immediate past president of the district, was honored.

THE AIMS of the Crusade Of Higher Education, to be conducted by the Methodist Church this fall, were presented by Mrs. Dunlap.

Responsibility groups, wherein local officers met with their corresponding district officers, concluded the forenoon session. This group consisted of Mrs. Lang, president; Mrs. Clyde Hoffman of Mingo Junction, vice president; Mrs. George Haynes of Mt. Pleasant, secretary; Mrs.

The officers and executive board members were announced at the first Industry Parent-Teacher Association meeting Thursday night at Logan School.

The officers are Mrs. Stephen Hazy, president, Mrs. Paul Botte, first vice president, Mrs. Amos Walker, second vice president, Mrs. Fred Novak, secretary, and Mrs. Pete Esapovich, treasurer.

Members of the executive board are Mrs. Brady Richards, civil defense legislature; Mrs. Paul Mehno, cultural arts; Mrs. Robert Dadds, health; Mrs. Charles Polce, hostess chairman; Mrs. William Keagy, homeroom mothers; Mrs. David McIsaac, language; Mrs. Charles Jacoby and Mrs. William Staats, library representatives; Mrs. Lester Nott, membership co-chairmen; Mrs. Donald Haswell, publicity; Mrs. Paul Mortimer, PTA Magazine; Mrs. Jerome McCreery, parliamentary and bylaws; Mrs. Dolores Shaffer and Mrs. Francis Fernandez, programs, and Mrs. Botte and Mrs. Walker, budget and finance.

4 School Board Candidates Speak To Teachers' Group

Four candidates for the Board of Education spoke and answered questions during a meeting of the East Liverpool Teachers Association Thursday night at Westgate School.

The ELTA is considering endorsing candidates at the Nov. 2 election when two will be elected to the school board for four-year terms.

Speaking on their aims as board members and their backgrounds were Harry D. McConnell and Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, president and vice president of the present board who are seeking their second four-year terms; Robert H. Arnold, manager of the City Loan & Savings Co. office, and Richard K. Wolf, a millworker and president of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club, who are making their first bids for a school board post.

The four candidates also answered questions submitted in advance to Jack Wilson, chairman of the ELTA's citizenship committee, who was the panel moderator.

S. C. Bye of East Palestine, treasurer; Mrs. Eugene Merkel of Tiltonsville, campus ministry; Mrs. Eugene Springs of Harlem Springs, Christian social relations; Mrs. Lewis Call of Bergholz, membership cultivation; Mrs. Dunlap, missionary education and service; Mrs. William Jones of Tiltonsville, missionary personnel; Mrs. Walter Dinger of Amsterdam, program materials; Mrs. Gary Snode of Minerva, spiritual life cultivation; Mrs. Clifford Nelms of Cadiz, supply work; Miss Eleanor McMurray of Salem, Wesleyan service guild; Mrs. C. R. Wells of Adena, nominating committee, and Mrs. Nelson of Columbiana, local church activities.

Luncheon was served at noon by women of the hostess unit headed by Mrs. Ray Keller.

THE AFTERNOON session began with a registration report by Mrs. Haynes. The Rev. Ralph Gray, district superintendent, gave the prayer. Mrs. Snode led the meditation on the day's theme. Mrs. Dorothy Calvin presented special music.

Mrs. Walter Dinger of Amsterdam, secretary of program materials, had a display of literature available for the year's study.

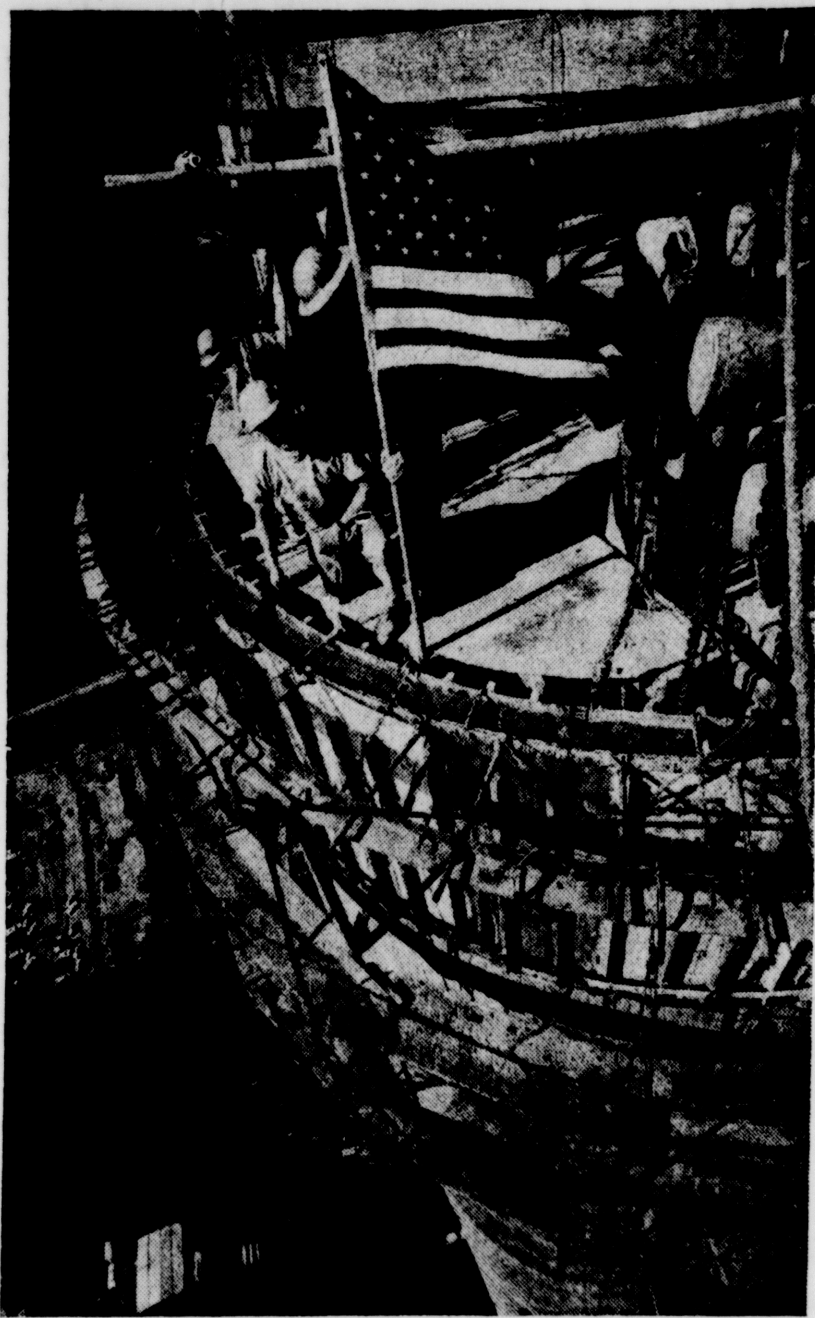

The program for the Thursday session at the First Methodist Church of Toronto was under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Guy, president of the society. Mrs. Alfred Meloy of Brilliant led the music. The Rev. Howard Crabtree, pastor, offered prayer.

The program was similar to that presented for the groups at East Palestine.

Special guests were Miss Olive Givens of Cadiz, retired missionary; the Rev. Howard Williams of Adena; the Rev. Robert Randolph of Harmony; Mrs. W. E. Muldoon, a former conference officer, and Mrs. S. H. Pollock of Steubenville, a former district president.

The Rev. Elmer Stratton of Steubenville presented the higher education aims. Mrs. Edgar Evans of Toronto was organist and Mrs. Richard Craven presented the special music.

The next conference will be held April 21 at Wintersville.

TOPPING OUT! The Stars and Stripes are raised as workmen complete the final pouring of concrete atop the world's tallest chimney, the 826-foot stack of the Cardinal power plant on the Ohio River at Brilliant. It is the first of two identical stacks that will serve Ohio's largest power-generating station. Wage Increase Action Delayed At Wellsville Wellsville Council deferred action on proposed wage increases for some city employees at a special meeting Thursday night following a two-hour caucus session.

Councilman Paul Todd, finance chairman, said Council agreed to table the wage increases until additional information can be obtained.

Council had discussed the boosts requested by Mayor William Daugherty at its meeting Tuesday night after another caucus session last week.

At Tuesday night's meeting, Todd said a tentative agreement had been reached to raise salaried workers $10 a month and hourly workers 15 cents an hour. Department heads would be given an additional $10 and the driver of the refuse department truck 20 cents more an hour, he said.

Ohioville Engineer Ordered To Make Sewage Unit Study

Ohioville Borough engineer Daniel C. Baker was authorized to make a preliminary study and submit a recommendation for a sewage treatment plant during the Council meeting at the Borough Building Thursday.

The motion for the sewage study was given by Paul Dawson and seconded by George Daniels Jr. It was pointed out that the Meadowbrook Estates alone includes 150 homes, all of which have septic tanks. The area is getting too congested and a sewage system should be developed, the legislators said.

Council President Louis Poff suggested that all the committeeheads turn in reports on financial needs for next year so the 1966 budget may be drafted.

Mayor Elmer R. Gifford reported that the police investigated 21 complaints, six auto violations and five auto accidents during September.

He urged all borough residents to make an all-out effort to correct drainage problems on their land.

Bills of $1,974 were ordered paid.

The next meeting will be Nov. 4.

tion, suffered an apparent heart attack during the meeting and left the commissioners' office shortly before 1 p. m. for treatment by a physician.

Don R. Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic party chairman, issued the following statement on behalf of the Democratic Policy Committee in connection with the controversy: -

"We feel that the county commissioners and prosecutor did the right thing in bringing the county home situation into full public view before something of a serious nature might occur that couldn't be corrected."

"We believe that the place to settle the County Home problem is in the courts and not inside the halls of the Courthouse at Lisbon. We believe and hope that anyone who has anything to offer will present whatever evidence they have, or suggestions, to the county prosecutor."

"We do not feel that this should be a partisan issue. In fact, we have no recommendation of any successor to Mr. Phillips."

"We have complete faith in our commissioners and the prosecutor, who happen to represent opposing political parties, in carrying out the responsibilities of their office."

Cars Collide At Wellsville

Cars operated by a Toronto man and a New Jersey motorist were damaged in a sideswiping collision this morning at Clark Ave. and 25th St. in Wellsville just off the four-lane section of Route 7.

The left side of the auto driven by Nicholas G. Tye Jr., 310 N. 4th St., Toronto, and the right side of a car operated by Allen V. Weinberg of Linden, N. J., were damaged in the crash.

Police Chief John Hephner said Weinberg was passing Tye at the end of the four-lane highway entering Wellsville from the south when the sideswiping occurred. The mishap was timed at 6:25 a. m.

James W. Rearely, 507 19th St., reported to police headquarters that he struck a utility pole at 18th and Main Sts. about 6:50 a. m.

Rearely told police his vision was obscured by rain and fog. Police said they were unable to find any damage to the pole.

Chiefs Convinced Of Progress

War On Poverty Enters Its Second Year Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's "war on poverty" enters its second year today, under investigation by Congress and the target of some criticism, but, with its chiefs convinced they are making progress.

There have been charges of poor administration from both Democrats and Republicans. There have been congressional suggestions that Sargent Shriver, the antipoverty commander, step out as Peace Corps director and give full time to running the Office of Economic Opportunity.

But Shriver and other top OEO officials appear confident. They say they had expected even more criticism because of the scope of antipoverty efforts and their new approaches to the poverty problem.

Despite a riot Aug. 20 at the Camp Breckinridge, Ky., Job Corps center, officials say they feel they have solved their most serious administrative problems and are turning their major efforts to finding jobs for graduates.

And VISTA — Volunteers-in-Service-to-America — better known as the domestic peace corps, recently announced an expansion program and said it was further advanced now than the Peace Corps was at the same stage developments. President Johnson signed legislation appropriating $793 million to the antipoverty programs a year ago today, but nothing much happened for another month.

Now, however, things have been moving so fast that Shriver recently cautioned that the programs soon will begin leveling off. To some, he said, this might appear to be a slowdown.

Shriver brushes aside criticism of confusion and high personnel turnover. It was the same way at the Peace Corps, he says, "We had 150 per cent turnover the first two years at the Peace Corps."

The GOP task force on economic opportunity has been a frequent critic of Shriver. The House Education and Labor Committee, meanwhile, has begun a nationwide inspection of some antipoverty projects.

The chairman, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., has named a special staff to conduct hearings, and this week, Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., opened hearings on the antipoverty situation in Washington.

OEO officials sum up their first year this way, statistically: — Community action programs, ranging from classes to teach migrant workers how to handle their money to dissemination of birth control information, more than 1,100 grants totaling $218,520,599 in more than 1,000 cities and counties in all 50 states.

— Head Start, a preschool program for children, more than 560,000 children in 13,344 child development centers in all 50 states at a cost of $82,697,391.

— Job Corps, designed to take school dropouts and prepare them for a return to school or jobs, nearly 13,000 — some 11,500 men and 1,300 women — in 66 centers at a cost of $238 million.

— VISTA, 1,213 volunteers in service, 264 in training; 29 urban projects, 126 rural projects at a cost of $6,018,735.

— Neighborhood Youth Corps, 343,338 youths with jobs in 916 projects at a cost of $184,206,643.

— College work study, 105,030 students in 1,092 educational institutions working to help pay tuition at a cost of $55.7 million.

— Work experience, 98,136 heads of families working in 916 projects at a cost of $124,199,200.

— Adult basic education, 43,000 persons receiving literacy training; 34 state plans approved finally, 11 state plans approved conditionally. Total cost $14,620,564.

Housing Plan Due Study By State Agency

Mayor George E. Willshaw will lead a local delegation to Columbus Tuesday afternoon for a meeting of the State Housing Board in which it will consider an application for establishment of a Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority, which would serve most of the county with low - rent housing.

The mayor said he received word of the state agency's 2 p. m. meeting this morning from Paul Durbak of Steubenville, administrator of the Steubenville Metropolitan Housing Authority who has assisted in establishment of a similar agency for the county.

Willshaw said invitations will be extended to county commissioners, representatives of the County Mayor's Association, the Senior Citizens Group and organized labor to join in urging the state group to act favorably on the county application.

The application for establishment of the authority was filed several months ago in a resolution enacted by county commissioners. It seeks to have the authority established throughout the county with the exception of a couple of townships which are essentially rural.

Once the authority is established, the way will be clear for officials to proceed with plans for low - cost housing and an application for federal funds or federally - guaranteed loans to cover most of the cost.

The mayor said it was not definitely understood whether the state agency will act immediately on the county application or take it under advisement for a decision later.

Judge Penalizes 10 Area Drivers At East Palestine

Ten motorists were penalized for traffic violations at hearings before County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine Thursday.

Fined for speeding were Emerson McPaul of Wellsville R. D. 1, and Melvin Earl Adkins of 1849 Harvey Ave., $10 each, and Charles Elliott of 1017 Chestnut St. and Wilford H. Hill of N. Market St., East Palestine, $5 each.

Fined for following too closely were John W. Deem of Negley R. D. 1 and Jimmy Exline of 172 E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, $5 and costs each.

Others fined were Cecil Lee Conkle of New Waterford R. D. 1, $5 and costs for failure to obey a traffic signal; Anthony Genova of New Waterford R. D. 1, $5 and costs for no muffler, and Alfred R. Ward of R. D. 1, $5 and costs for improper backing.

Bench warrants were ordered issued for two drivers who failed to appear for hearings — Daniel Pacheco Sr. of East Liverpool R. D. 2 for speeding and William R. Hall of 1617 Pennsylvania Ave. for crossing a yellow line.

John Thomas of Rogers forfeited a $30 bond on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle.

Repairs Will Halt Power In Chester Area

Electric service in the eastern part of the Chester district will be interrupted Sunday morning to replace vandal-damaged power line insulators, Walter Jordan, Chester manager of the Monongahela Power Co., has announced.

Several insulators on a recently - improved 12,000-volt electrical system have been damaged by vandals in recent weeks.

The power service will be suspended between 7 and 9 a. m. to permit crews to replace the insulators, Jordan said.

The areas to be affected include all of Chester east of 7th St., Tinsville, Lawrenceville, Johnsonville and the Little Blue district to the Pennsylvania line.

All of Route 30 from Chester to the Pennsylvania line, all of Route 2 from Route 30 south to Tompkins Run Park, all of Shepherd's Valley, Gas Valley Rd., the Waterford Park race track road from Route 2 to Fairview Rd., Fairview Rd. from Chester to Route 2.

Among firms and buildings to be affected will be the Harker China Co., Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., T K Roofing Co., National Church Supply, Fox Nursing Home, Oak Glen High School, Hillcrest Farms, and Tomlinson Run Park buildings.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Effort Needed To Arouse Interest

Recently we considered the widely prevailing doctrine that the only way to stimulate effort at learning in a child is to arouse an interest. We agreed that interest does lead to effort and that we should never cease to try to fire the child with interest. WeDr. Garry Myers merely questioned the word only in this doctrine. We observed, moreover, the related doctrine that anything a child is made to do he will surely hate and avoid doing thereafter. This is contrary to many facts you have observed.

You know very well that many an adult who was required in childhood to attend Sunday school or church is now a loyal church attendant.

YOU MAY have observed many an older child or adult take home-responsibility and share in the drudgeries there, who was required effectively to do so in earlier years. You may know of many an accomplished musician who was required to practice, and you may not be able to name accomplished musicians who were not required to practice when they were much younger.

What is overlooked by many theorists is that effort may be required to arouse and cultivate interest. The child at seven or ten required to do certain chores regularly and well may gain skills thereby which at least lower his resistance to doing them and may even result in satisfaction.

The child required effectively to practice music lessons against his will tends to acquire necessary skills which are rewarding to him. In the future he may choose on his own accord to practice and thus acquire great interest in music.

EVEN some poor readers who at eight, ten, or twelve are required to read for half an hour daily from materials they are able to read, acquire sufficient reading skill to exert great effort to read more and more.

A child must enjoy success in order to gain interest and, therefore, to exert more effort. Often the stage must be set so he will have to exert effort in order to enjoy success and, therefore, gain in interest, which in turn will create more effort.

Obviously, it is true that some things the child is forced to do he later hates and avoids doing, if he can. But we can't say he will hate and avoid it just because he, earlier, was required to do it. Rather it was the ineffectiveness of the requirement, and the needless hampering of emotions during the requirement.

You say you require your child to do certain chores. Does he find many ways to escape doing them or to do them tardily and poorly? Are there arguments and doubts about his doing them? Is his having to do them as certain as his having to breathe? To what degree does he face them as inevitable? What can take the place of inevitability?

SO WITH music practice. Must your child go at it without doubt or argument, and do it according to certain reasonable standards?

If all doubts and arguments are avoided and the required job or practice is done over a sufficiently long period, skills are acquired, skills essential to further success. There may come times when an effective penalty is necessary. It won't be jawing and emotional orgies.

One effective penalty for the child resisting and escaping chores, music practice and the like, is his having to sit unamused, doing nothing, for at least half an hour for each delinquent, not being allowed to do the chore or practice this time.

Pottery, Office Staff Sign Wage Agreement

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today a new two-year agreement has been signed by its Local 333 and the Sterling China Co., covering office employees at the Wellsville pottery.

The contract grants a seven-cent hourly raise, plus other benefits, the union said. It will run until Sept. 1, 1967, with a clause that permits reopening for discussion of wages after one year.

Guild Arguments Due In Refusal Of News Service

CLEVELAND (AP) — A federal judge has given the Cleveland Newspaper Guild until next Friday to present arguments in a dispute over Guild refusal to handle wire copy of the New York Times News Service.

U. S. District Court Judge James C. Connell acted Thursday after the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) asked for an injunction against the Guild.

Guild members at the Cleveland Plain Dealer voted against handling Times Service copy Sept. 16, when the New York Newspaper Guild struck the New York Times. The news service continued operating despite the New York strike.

The following day the Forest City Publishing Co., publisher of The Plain Dealer, filed an unfair labor practices charge against the Guild.

NLRB Regional Director Philip Fusco said in his federal court petition that he had "reasonable cause to believe" that the Guild had violated the secondary-boycott provisions of the labor management act.

Judge Connell set a hearing for Oct. 18.

Cave Where Boy Was Trapped 25½ Hours Is Spared

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Demolition teams have spared the cave in which 15-year-old Morris Baetzold was trapped for 25½ hours, although the most dangerous portion of the cave has been sealed off.

Harold W. Groth, Cleveland Metropolitan Parks director, said Thursday the back section of the cave, where Baetzold fell head first into a narrow crevice, was sealed by dynamite blasts after the boy was removed Wednesday.

"There is still about 30 feet of good cave left," Groth said. "I'm glad they didn't have to blast the whole hillside."

The parks director said his men would "take care of the loose rocks," and the cave will continue to be open for visitors.

The cave, called Wildcat Cave, is at Whipp's Ledges in Hinkley Park in the Cleveland Park System. It has been a popular attraction for years for youngsters visiting the park.

Baetzold was being kept in Medina Community Hospital while doctors ran tests on him, but he appeared in good condition Thursday as he talked to visitors.

Bust Of Churchill Now In White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bronze bust of Sir Winston Churchill will be on permanent display in the White House.

President Johnson accepted the bust, by sculptor Jacob Epstein, at a reception Wednesday night and remarked that if Churchill had been a natural-born citizen of the United States he certainly would have been "a resident of this house."

Pope's Visit 'Rescues' Television

World events frequently seem to conspire in an effort to save TV from self-destruction. Just when it looks as if it surely is drowning in a flood of fatuous commercials and pitifully mediocre playlets, then along comes something or someone for TV's new and special events crews to focus their cameras on and suddenly revive its rights as a communications medium. Pope Paul's visit to our shores, for example, provided viewers with more excitement and glamor in one day than all three networks managed to create three weeks ago with their new season premieres.

Hal Humphrey to focus their cameras on and suddenly revive its rights as a communications medium. Pope Paul's visit to our shores, for example, provided viewers with more excitement and glamor in one day than all three networks managed to create three weeks ago with their new season premieres.

THE PRESS has been buried under bales of publicity announcements from the networks the past few days, telling us like a puffing Jack Horner what a great job they did in covering the Pope's day in New York.

Next year at their Emmy awards bash there will be film clips of that colorful mass conducted at Yankee Stadium, and no doubt a special Emmy will be handed out for TV's bringing us the Pope.

It should be made clear, however, that the men deserving that Emmy are the cable haulers, cameramen, mike boom operators, directors and commentators like Frank McGee, Harry Reasoner and Peter Jennings.

TOO OFTEN, as was the case when President Kennedy was assassinated, TV tends to grab credit for something it is almost duty bound to do, and certainly well enough equipped to do without making it sound afterward as if it had wrought some miracle.

A considerable breach exists between a TV network's regular programming division and its news and public affairs department. The former always is raising Cain over the amount of money the latter is spending "to cover some lousy rebellion."

But when praise time comes along, the program vice presidents make out as if they were right there to help pass along the ammunition.

Look back over the past five or so years and eliminate the political conventions, big sports events, a presidential assassination, astronaut flights and other non-TV-created things you've seen on the home screen and you'll discover how much more impact the medium has as a communicator than as an entertainer or educator.

THE TV BRASS probably won't believe this, but I know of a family — man, wife and three children — who live close to New York City and do not own a TV set. They decided (the parents, that is) it would be too disconcerting and diverting for their children, whose school homework is unusually heavy now.

"But it finally caught up with us," said the father this week. "We are Catholics, and our kids informed us their parochial school would not be in session Monday because of the Pope's coming here and that the teachers had assigned them to watch him on TV and write reports on what they saw."

We can assume this father is now shopping for a TV set, or already has it and is watching the World Series and attempting to explain to his offspring why they can't stay home and do the same.

THE ONLY OTHER afterthought I have concerning TV's obviously excellent coverage of Pope Paul's day in New York is the rather big point the network publicity offices made of the fact there would be no commercials during the hours devoted to following the Pope's activities.

Are we to shout, "Bully for you! You had the sense not to show extreme bad taste?"

Sure, it cost the networks a lot of money to do what they did Monday, but they did it well and won a lot of friends and discharged an obligation as a news medium.

Also, they sold at least one TV set to a family which never had one before.

Midland Car Damaged By Mishap In East End

A Midland man's parked auto was damaged Thursday night on Pennsylvania Ave. when struck by an East End woman's car, police reported.

The collision at 8:22 on Pennsylvania Ave. at Bay Alley involved a parked 1964 four-door sedan owned by Steve Visnick of 4 11th St., Midland and a 1965 two-door sedan driven by Martha Boros, 43, of 1088 Price st., officers said.

The woman said she was driving east when she was blinded by the headlights of an oncoming car. When she pulled to the right to avoid a collision, her auto struck Visnick's car, she said. The collision damaged the left side of the Midland man's car.

Painesville Project Wins Preliminary OK

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A $2 million urban renewal project in the business district of Painesville has won preliminary approval from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Plans for replacing rundown commercial buildings in a 24-acre area are expected to include a mall. Final approval of the federal grant is expected soon from Washington.

John A. Marshall, Painesville urban renewal director, said Thursday the city will buy and clear the area and that planning for the privately financed project probably will begin in about a year.

On Steer Purchases

LISBON — Members of the Columbiana County Steer Club are pushing plans for "showing" at the 1966 county fair.

They today urged that all 4-H members who plan to show steers next year obtain them before Oct. 30 and pointed out that all steers must weigh from 325 to 475 pounds at time of purchase, with members not permitted to pay more than 30 cents a pound.

A dated weight slip and the application must be in the County Extension Office here before Nov. 5. Rules, regulations and application forms may be obtained at the office.

Experts Called To Probe 'Pro-Con' Tax Statements

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Council for Education called in a three-member team of education experts from outside the state today to investigate the accuracy of pro and con statements of the proposed sales tax increase. The action came as arguments grew more heated over statements mailed by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown to Ohio voters.

James O. Brennan, administrative director of the Council for Education, said he asked the National Education Association to appoint an objective panel to conduct the investigation.

Scheduled to arrive in Columbus today were Eugene P. McLoone, economics professor at George Washington University; William McClure, director of the Bureau of Educational Research at the University of Illinois, and Mrs. Jean Flanagan, a NEA official in Washington, D.C.

Invited by Brennan to meet with the panel were Brown, State School Supt. E. E. Holt, William P. Lewis, director of the Legislative Reference Bureau and one of the authors of the anti-sales tax increase statement; Robert D. Ballard, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO, and George Hammond, executive secretary of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants.

Hammond blasted the OCE Thursday for what he called "desperation tactics" by proponents of the sales tax increase.

He said attacks on the integrity and sincerity of public officials who prepared the arguments against the proposal "represent desperation tactics by the publicity agents of the Ohio Council for Education."

The education council put the sales tax increase question on the Nov. 2 ballots in an effort to raise an additional 116 million annually for Ohio schools. The proposal calls for increasing the sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent.

As required by law, the secretary of state's office prepared and mailed out to voters statements representing both the pro and con arguments over the issue.

Hammond said the two authors of the opposition statement, Lewis and Lauren A. Glosser, director of the Legislative Service Commission, "are career officials of the highest caliber as well as representatives of the Ohio General Assembly."

Ohio Lumberman, 36, Dies In Home Fire

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Russell Frazee, a lumberman who lived alone in Monroe Township, seven miles southeast of here, was killed Thursday night when flames swept through his two-story home.

The fire was believed to have started in the kitchen in a wood cook stove. Frazee, about 36, had been sleeping in the living room.

There are now some 96 million drivers in this country, traveling over 800 billion miles a year.

Indonesian Moslems Burn Headquarters Of Red Party

JAKARTA (AP)—Several thousand young Indonesian Moslems burned the headquarters of the Indonesian Communist party, the PKI, to the ground today.

Indonesian army troops who broke the back of the attempted coup last week cordoned off streets leading to the PKI headquarters and did not interfere with the demonstrators.

The one-story building was reduced to ashes. Three fire trucks played water on them. The demonstrating youths shouted "Kill Aidit" and "Dissolve PKI." D. N. Aidit is the first secretary of the PKI. He has been out of sight since the coup failed last weekend.

(A Jakarta radio broadcast, heard in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, said 500,000 persons held an anti-Communist rally in Jakarta's main stadium today. The broadcast said "the rally was held in very tense atmosphere" and got somewhat out of hand when some of the crowd began to shout "Kill! Kill! Kill immediately!")

After burning the PKI headquarters, the demonstrators paraded through the streets shouting "To hell with PKI."

Behind the PKI headquarters a three-story concrete building is under construction for a new party headquarters. The demonstrators did not touch it.

Truckloads of demonstrators passed the American Embassy shouting "Long live America." This was in marked contrast to the numerous anti-American demonstrations the Communists have staged before the embassy.

The Indonesian army, meanwhile, continued its anti-Communist campaign despite President Sukarno's attempts to check it.

Students' Appeal Dismissed In Ohio State Speaker Issue

CINCINNATI (AP)—There is no cause for further court action involving the controversial Ohio State University speakers' rule since the OSU trustees have modified the regulation, a federal appeals court says.

The 6th Circuit Court of Appeals Thursday dismissed an appeal for a court hearing filed by Ann Mayer and other OSU students. The appeal was filed last spring after U. S. District Judge Mell Underwood in Columbus dismissed a request for an injunction against the Ohio State trustees.

The controversial rule, which gave OSU President Novice G. Fawcett power to determine who could speak on the campus, was later modified so that "recognized" student organizations need only the approval of a faculty advisor to invite outside speakers.

The court heard arguments on the matter Monday and the students' attorney, Jack G. Day of Cleveland, accused the trustees of modifying the rule to avoid a challenge in the courts.

Day called the trustees' action "evasive" and students had a right to a court ruling. He also said the trustees can always change their minds and restore the old rule.

Huntington Carlisle, attorney for Ohio State, conceded that the speakers' rule may be changed again, but said he doubted the trustees would revert to the old rule.

Hospital Treats 9 From District Hurt In Mishaps

A Newell girl hurt in a fall against a window and an East End youth injured playing football were among nine area residents treated Thursday at City Hospital.

Barbara Doolin, daughter of John Doolin of Newell, suffered a laceration of the left arm in a fall through a window.

James Parsons, son of John Parsons of 471 Mulberry St., received bruises of the right elbow in a fall while playing football.

Dorothy Cook of Edgemont Pl., Calcutta, was treated for a laceration of the left hand after it was scraped on a board in a barn.

Gary Amos, son of Gene Amos of 3rd St., Chester, suffered a cut finger on the right hand from a cap gun.

Wilbur Lucas of 711 Sophia St., an employee of the H. K. Porter Co., received a fractured right wrist when a pile of pallets fell against his arm.

While playing football, Randy Hudson, son of Darwin Hudson of 1254 Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, suffered a fractured left leg.

John Kemp of 1052 Riverview St. was treated for a laceration of the forehead which he said was received when struck by a sagger at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co.

Shelba Gregory, daughter of Austin Gregory of 321 Adolphus St., Chester, suffered a fractured hand in a fall.

Robert Canton of 803 Avondale St., an employee of the Thorfare Market, was treated yesterday morning for a small puncture wound of the abdomen received on a knife while at work.

Six Jap Fishing Boats With 200 Aboard Missing

TOKYO (AP)—Six Japanese fishing boats with about 200 crewmen were reported missing today in the South Pacific after mighty Typhoon Carmen raked the area Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Maritime Safety Board made this report following an intensive air and sea search around the Marianas Islands about 700 miles south of Tokyo.

Two Japanese patrol boats and three U.S. planes from Guam began combing the area early today.

The typhoon, with maximum winds of more than 190 miles an hour, was east-southeast of two Jima today and moving north.

It was reported earlier from Guam that Carmen hit the tiny U.S. trust territory of Agrihan Island near Guam today, destroying buildings and sinking five Japanese fishing boats.

Island communications were out and whether there were injuries was unknown.

U.S. Air Force planes nearby were reported ready to drop medical corpsmen and supplies.

Ohioan In Training Dies In Plane Crash

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—A Spencer, Ohio, man attending a training school at the Air and Space Manufacturing Co. here was killed Thursday when a gyroplane made by the firm crashed.

Killed was William H. Melrose, 52, an employee of the Abbe Sales Co. in Elyria.

It was the third fatal crash of an A-18 model of the craft in less than a month. Shortly after Thursday's incident, the Federal Aviation Agency grounded the gyroplanes until cause of the crashes can be determined.

Police said Melrose had taken off from the plant to try out the plane, which has rotors permitting short takeoff and landing runs.

$13 Million Released For Ohio Universities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A total of $13 million has been released by the State Controlling Board for projects at two universities, one university branch and a state park.

The funds go to: University of Akron, $5.48 million; Toledo University, $3.55 million.

Ohio State-Miami University branch at Dayton, $148,000 for planning, $405,000 for general equipment; Huston Woods State Park, Preble County, $3.38 million for a 94-room lodge, 25 cabins, roads and a water and sewer system.

"I'M NOT REALLY A KID HATER BUT..."

Those saying that always add that they don't believe Issue 1 is the way to provide the money for proper education of Ohio's children. They say wait until someone has a plan they agree with.

We say Ohio already has waited too long. For 17 years our State has been shifting an ever-greater share of the total cost of elementary and high school education to local taxpayers.

That's why aroused parents and other friends of education felt the need to get those 246,000 signatures on petitions which brought Issue 1 before Ohio voters.

These children need action NOW:

- the one beginner in four who can't get in kindergarten.
- the million youngsters for whom guidance counseling is not available.
- the 300,000 youngsters in overcrowded classrooms.
- the 30,000 youngsters whose teachers left Ohio last year because salaries were so much higher elsewhere.
- the countless thousands of youngsters who are being denied adequate vocational training courses.

WHY ISSUE 1 MUST WIN

It provides local school districts with approximately $116 million in additional state benefits above last year's level. ALL school districts will get more; pressure on local property owners will LESSEN. To provide these funds, all of us would pay only a couple of cents a day in a penny sales tax increase.

Under Issue 1 the state's share of the total cost of educating the typical Ohio child would be about 40%. This is near the national average and closer to Governor Rhodes' announced goal of "50-50 state participation." (Today the state pays less than a third.)

The future of Ohio's children is in your hands when you go to the polls on November 2. You can't afford to gamble with it.

Cuban Refugees Spark Freedom Flotilla Talk

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The arrival of the first Cuban refugees under Fidel Castro's open-door policy has sparked talk of a freedom flotilla crossing the Florida Straits from Cuba.

Exiles in Miami's Cuban colony say that some boats already have left Miami for Cuba 90 miles away, but that could not be confirmed. Officials were skeptical that the U.S. government would allow any massive movement of small boats.

Cuba's Communist government reportedly is working hard to prepare the port at Camarioca, the one closest to Florida, as an exit station.

Bartolome Julian Rosales, who brought the first group to Florida Thursday in a 25-foot boat, said a barracks stocked with food had been set up at the port. The usually reliable Cuban exile news service AIP said cabins are being built at the port, and the port channel is being deepened.

The Cuban government has sent telegrams to exiles with preliminary instructions on how to get relatives out of Cuba. The telegrams, sent to exiles who requested information, ask the refugees to cable the names and descriptions of their boats and wait for authorization.

Authorities are disturbed over the possibility of a "Dunkirk of the Florida Straits." That, they said, would be contrary to the orderly process described by President Johnson when he accepted Prime Minister Castro's offer to let anyone leave for the United States.

Rosales, who has lived in Miami three years, said he telephoned his wife in Cuba after he heard of Castro's offer. She arranged with the Cuban government for her exit, he said.

He left Key West Tuesday and picked up his wife, their daughter, his 84-year-old mother and others. The group, 15 in all, docked at Marathon in the Keys Thursday.

Previously the straits had been guarded so closely by Soviet-built Cuban torpedo boats that the passage had been named "Death Corridor" by the refugees.

Exiles estimated that 50,000 Cubans are waiting to leave their homeland, but have been unable to get visas or transportation. About 300,000 Cubans have fled since Castro seized power in 1959.

Girl, Boyfriend Are Indicted In Slaying Of 2 Men

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Two-count first-degree murder indictments were returned by a grand jury Thursday against a 16-year-old Ohio girl and her ex-boyfriend.

The 17-member panel charged Dixie Lee Radcliff, daughter of an Amesville, Ohio, evangelist, and Donald Boggs of Londonderry, Ohio, in the fatal shooting of Robert Willis, 23, and Halvor Johnson, 28, both of Newport, N.H.

The two men were killed near Ash Fork, Ariz., on Labor Day.

Miss Radcliff and Boggs were scheduled for arraignment today, at which time a trial date was expected to be set.

Boggs also faces possible charges in the fatal shooting of a man near Cedar City, Utah, and the beating death of a San Antonio, Tex., man.

Symbol Of War

Bullet-Riddled Viet Schoolhouse

CAM NE, South Viet Nam (AP) — In the midst of this hamlet sits a run-down, bullet-riddled schoolhouse that has become a symbol in the Vietnamese war.

Sixteen U.S. Marines guard it around the clock. The Viet Cong fire at it by night.

"It is a symbol of American help (to the South Vietnamese People)," says Lt. Col. Robert Tunnell, Fallbrook, Calif.

He commanded the 3rd Battalion of the 9th Marine Regiment until Friday, when he lost his right leg. He stepped on a pound block of dynamite planted by the Viet Cong and set off by a homemade pressure fuse. While helping to evacuate him, Sgt. Adolf Hartschlag, Vista, Calif., stepped on a similar mine and lost his left leg.

A few days before, Tunnell had taken two newsmen to the schoolhouse. His battalion only recently had moved into the Hoa-Thai village complex just south of Da Nang.

Speaking proudly of the Marines' determination to hold the battered schoolhouse, Tunnell said:

"It is a thorn in the side of the Viet Cong. I think they want to capture it rather than destroy it so they can say, 'We kicked the Marines out.'"

Tunnell said that a year ago Cam Ne was "a pure Communist town."

Today, according to Nguyen Luong, 51, the village chief, there are 600 families in the Hoa-Thai village complex, which includes the hamlet of Cam Ne. Of these 600, he says, 106 are Viet Cong sympathizers. Luong is under constant Marine guard while he is in the village area because he is on the Viet Cong's list for assassination.

The schoolhouse is about 75 feet long and has five small rooms. The Marines have established defensive positions inside; sandbags have been placed in some of the doorways and open windows.

During the day, the schoolhouse serves as a medical aid station for villagers, treated by a Navy medic, Dennis Neu, 20, Santa Cruz, Calif.

The villagers and Marines plan to rebuild the schoolhouse and start classes again.

It was at Cam Ne that the Marines burned several huts last August after being fired at by the Viet Cong concealed inside the huts.

Luong said he thinks his people understand: "It is war and the Marines try to kill the Viet Cong and they don't like to burn houses."

"The people would like the Marines to stay here to protect them in rebuilding this village and try to clear out the Viet Cong."

Elyria Man Killed In 3-Vehicle Crash

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Harvey Edward Fincham, 23, of Elyria was killed in a collision involving three vehicles on Ohio 254, two miles north of here Thursday.

The highway patrol said Fincham was trying to pass a car on the rain-slick highway and rammed a produce truck head-on. The truck rolled over and caught fire.

The truck driver, Luis Longoria, Jr., 30, of Lorain was treated at a hospital and released. Richard Rubeck of Lorain, the driver of the third vehicle, which was struck by Fincham's car as it swerved back across the road, was not injured.

New Bureau Created In Mental Department

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new bureau has been created in the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, Director Martin Janis said.

The Ohio Administration on Aging was created under the new federal Older Americans Act. The office will be financed with a $172,000 allotment from the federal government, and Mrs. Rose L. Papier, former secretary of the Ohio Commission on Aging, will head the new bureau.

Woman Hurt In Collision

Carol Lee Bunfill, 24, of 303 Wells Ave., Wellsville, has been taken to St. John's Hospital in Steubenville for treatment of possible neck injuries suffered in a traffic mishap at 12:05 a.m. today, on Route 7, 300 feet south of Toronto.

The patrol said she was stopped for traffic when her car was struck in the rear by an auto operated by Raymond C. Eshbaugh Jr., 18, of 914 Logan St., Toronto.

The youth was cited for failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

William Williams, 36, of 2004 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital here with fractures of the foot and ankle received in the collision of his Kaul Clay Co. rig and a car operated by William Watson, 50, of Toronto R. D. 2.

Although the accident still is under investigation, the patrol said Watson was headed east on Route 213 at 9 a.m., stopped for a stop sign at the intersection and then pulled into the right hand lane headed north.

The rig loaded with clay tile hit the rear of the auto while Williams was cutting to the right to avoid the crash, the patrol said.

Watson's car spun around in the inside lane and the tractor-trailer went off the right side of the highway and overturned on top of guard rails. Clay pipe was scattered for a considerable distance, the patrol said.

4-H News

A reorganization meeting of the Happy Hands 4-H Club will be held Monday at 5:30 p.m. at the Salineville Church of Christ.

Working with the club this year will be Mrs. Dean Leishman, Mrs. Ruth Blackburn, Mrs. Margaret Maher, Mrs. Gilda Miller, Mrs. Elsie Duncan and Mrs. Elene Dent, all of Salineville.

The club has concentrated its efforts in the areas of clothing and nutrition during the past year. This year, it plans to meet Tuesday nights and provide a variety of projects and activities.

Officers were elected and eight new members enrolled during the meeting of the Flying Hooves Saddle Club at the Pughtown firemen's hall. Twenty attended.

Cathy Virden was elected president, Roger Littell vice president, Susan Jones secretary and Richard Jones treasurer.

Carolyn Gardner and Ann Higgenbottom were named song leaders, with Vannie Murray reporter.

Bill Laffer reported on a recent trail ride and plans were made for another ride on Oct. 17 at 1:30 p.m. The meeting opened with singing of "West Virginia Boys and Girls".

2 Youths Held In Slaying Of Mother, Sister Of One

BELLOWS, FALLS, Vt. (AP) — Two Connecticut youth — aged 14 and 15 — were held today in the slaying of the mother and sister of one of them.

They were captured Thursday night after a state trooper spotted them at a traffic light and followed them to a roadside restaurant in the country village of Bellows Falls.

Police said Roger Beaudry Jr., 15, and James McCann, 14, surrendered without a struggle after Trooper Gerald Lefevre called for aid.

Officials said they were suspects in the shooting of Beaudry's mother, Ella Beaudry, 42, and his sister, Roberta, 11. The bodies were found late Wednesday in their Cheshire, Conn., home by Roger Beaudry Sr., husband and father of the victims. Both had been shot in the head.

The boys were not armed, police said, but four guns were found in the car trunk.

The fathers of the boys said they had never been in serious trouble.

The shootings apparently took place while dinner was being prepared, police said.

A partly assembled bicycle was found in the basement. Police said the slain girl won it in a contest and that the family had picked it up the day she was killed.

Mrs. Beaudry's body was found at the foot of stairs leading to the second floor of the house, police said. Roberta's was nearby. A trail of blood led from the top to the bottom of the stairs.

When Beaudry returned from his job at a trucking company, he called police and said, "I just Potter-Beaver Series Ends . . .

The four-year old football series between East Liverpool and Beaver Local has come to an end.

The two schools couldn't agree on terms of a new two-year contract and have ended relations. Ted Taylor, principal at Beaver Local has announced that Columbiana has been scheduled on a home-and-home basis for the Beaver's opener.

Carl Pelini, principal here, said that a contract was sent to Beaver Local with the same terms as the four previous years, but was returned unsigned.

The conditions were that Beaver Local would play both games at Patterson Field for a guarantee of $1,100.

Taylor said Beaver Local wanted to schedule the games on a home-and-home basis, with one game at Patterson Field being considered a Beaver Local home game. Beaver Local officials would rent Patterson Field from the East Liverpool Board of Education and pay ELHS the $1,100 guarantee.

When neither side could agree, the series was ended, "with no hard feelings."

East Liverpool is looking for an opener for 1966.

IF EAST Liverpool and Wellsville had renewed their grid contract after last season, they would be playing tonight. Instead, East Liverpool is meeting Newton Falls and Wellsville ninth-ranked Steubenville Big Red.

Newton Falls is in Trumbull County and has a much smaller enrollment, with 607 students in the top four grades. Its football team has 237 boys from which to draw from in the top three grades.

Slim Pickings . . .

PREDICTIONS last week showed eight right, three wrong and two ties.

Another week is upon us and the guessing game looks something like this:

East Liverpool to get past Newton Falls by a touchdown and Big Red has too much for Wellsville, even though the Tigers have Chris Thornton on its side.

Midland is picked here over Monaca, while Stanton should shake off its tie with Wayne and defeat Adena.

Canfield is the choice over Columbiana and East Palestine is picked to win its first at Lisbon. Minerva should roll again at Leetonia and Marietta looks too strong for Salem.

Oak Glen will have to come up with another top effort to get around Follansbee. The Golden Bears by a TD. United is our pick over Beaver Local, but we look for the Beavers to give the Eagles a good scare.

Southern gets the nod over Springfield Local, with Coach Ed Oliver's boys a one-touchdown choice. McDonald should top Crestview and we like South Side to knock off Millvale.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

CURT BATTISTELLI, former Potter track star who went to set records at Kent State in the middle distance events, was released from the University Health Center at Kent Thursday after collapsing during a cross country meet Wednesday.

Tests were conducted and Battistelli was not to run for a week. Doctors believe he has an "oxygen deficiency" caused by a poor technique in breathing during a long race.

Battistelli collapsed after four miles of a five mile meet between Kent State and Slippery Rock College on Wednesday.

Starkey Sees 'Tough One' At Follansbee Saturday

Oak Glen's leadership in the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference will be at stake when the Golden Bears put their three game winning streak on the line Saturday afternoon at Follansbee. Kick off is at 2 p. m.

Follansbee also has a three-game winning streak after dropping its first two starts of the season.

Oak Glen with a 4-1 record holds a half point advantage over Steubenville Big Red in the Conference standings. Based on a point system, Oak Glen has a 28 average while Big Red has 27.5.

Coach Bob Starkey who also has seen his team record two straight shutouts, said "Follansbee may be our toughest game yet."

"Follansbee has a big team especially the big four up front," Starkey pointed out.

Oak Glen's lineup is set for the game with several changes. Dan Forsythe will play offensively at end for the first time while John Zielinsky will be at the other terminal.

Ken Spencer and John Vulgamore will open at tackles while Rich Bryar is a new addition at guard with Tom Lamb at the other guard spot. Andy Beckner gets the call at center.

The backfield will include Tom Thayer, Rich Everly, Dan Clark and Marv Six.

Musuraca Scores Two, West Tops East, 20-0

Jim Musuraca dashed for two touchdowns as Westgate scored a 20-0 victory in the mud over East Junior High Thursday afternoon at the East gridiron.

The game was originally scheduled for Patterson Field but moved to East End at the last moment due to an all-day rain.

Musuraca opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 60-yard dash then ran the two point conversion.

After holding an 8-0 lead at half-time, Musuraca went 20 yards in the third period for the next TD. This touchdown was set up on a 35 yard run by Floyd Cranston.

In the fourth quarter, Tom Chambers ended the scoring with a 10 yard dash to the end zone.

The victory was the fourth in a row for Westgate while East shows a 1-2-1 mark.

Westgate will meet Canton McKinley Thursday at Patterson Field at 4:15.

Three Head Field In Trot Classic

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) Noble Victory, Egyptian Candor and Armbr Flight head a field of eight today for the third jewel in trotting's Triple Crown, the $65,133 Kentucky Futurity.

Noble Victory, who has won more than $293,000, is the richest of the three harness racing greats. Among his victories is the Yonkers Futurity, the first jewel in the Triple Crown.

Egyptian Candor, an upset victor in the famed Hambletonian, has won $162,000 and Armbr Flight, who won one heat of the Hambletonian, has banked $241,000.

Nimble Boy, loser by a head and a nose in two heats of the Hambletonian, is also in the field.

Others entered are Be Sweet, Spud Coalton, Might Victory and Marengo Hanover.

Twins Now Dreaming Of 4-Game Sweep

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Brimming with confidence after beating the Dodgers' fearsome pitching pair of Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, the victorious Minnesota Twins expressed confidence today they can add nemesis Claude Osteen to their list of victims when the World Series resumes Saturday in Los Angeles.

Halfway to the World Championship after beating Koufax 5-1 at Minnesota Thursday on top of their opening 8-2 defeat of Drysdale, the Twins were even dreaming of a four-game sweep, predicted earlier by Los Angeles General Manager Buzzie Bavasi—but by the Dodgers.

"I'd love to sweep," said Twins' Manager Sam Mele, "but they're a tough outfit, and you've got to play heads up all the time. I've been telling you guys we're pretty tough, too."

Perhaps the toughest assignment of the Series goes to Camilo Pascual, the Twins' right-hander who is slated to open in Los Angeles following Friday's off day for travel.

Not only will the American League champions be playing in the Dodgers' home park, but the Twins' record against the Angels there has been nothing to write home about.

Minnesota's batting average for nine games at Dodger stadium during the regular season was less than .200. They hit only one home run at Dodger Stadium all year.

In addition, left-hander Osteen was exceptionally tough for the Twins during his years with the Washington Senators. The 26-year-old southpaw, traded to Los Angeles last winter, holds five victories over the Twins without a defeat.

"We've hit Claude in some of the games," said Harmon Killebrew, the Twins' third baseman and home run king. "Maybe we can again."

The Twins beat Koufax without hitting a home run. The big blows were Tony Oliva's sixth-inning double, which drove in the Twins' first run, a clutch run-scoring single by Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles' triple that led to a run in the seventh. Kaat helped his cause with a two-run, bases-loaded single in the eighth.

The Twins hit two home runs to one for the Dodgers in the opener.

Pascual, who missed seven weeks because of back trouble, was an interested dugout spectator during the Twins' first two triumphs. Did he think he learned something while watching Jim Grant and Jim Kaat tame the Dodgers hitters?

"The only way to learn is to go to the mound and do your own job," said the 31-year-old Cuban. "No two pitchers are alike. Grant pitches one way. Kaat another and neither pitches the way I do."

Koufax, a 26-game winner during the regular season, didn't pitch badly. He permitted six hits in six innings, striking out nine.

"I didn't feel I had it," said the stylish southpaw. "If my control would have been good, I might have gotten away with it, but it wasn't."

Walter Alston, the Dodger manager, agreed with his pitcher's ace.

"I've seen Sandy better," he said.

Alston added: "I'll be glad when we change ball parks. I know we'll have better weather, and I hope we can score more runs."

Alston emphasized, however, he was not seeking any alibis because of the weather.

"They just outplayed us," he said. "They deserved to win."

The Dodgers manager recalled that in 1955 the then Brooklyn Dodgers dropped two games behind and came back to defeat the New York Yankees in the Series.

Three other teams came back to win after losing the first two games. They were the 1921 New York Giants, the 1956 Yankees and the 1958 Yankees.

TWINS MANAGER SAM MELE signals "two-in-a-row" after his team won its second straight World Series game from Los Angeles Thursday. The series resumes Saturday at Los Angeles. (UPI Photo)

'Didn't Look At Scouting Report'

Twins Let Kaat Out Of Bag As Jim Outpitches Koufax

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Minnesota's Jim (Kitty) Kaat turned out to be the mouse that roared.

A definite underdog when he took the mound against Los Angeles' peerless Sandy Koufax in a battle of left-handers Thursday, Kaat not only outpitched the Dodger dandy but revealed after the game that he hadn't even looked at the scouting reports.

And, like a poor man's Koufax, he admitted that he also has to pack his arm in ice, or cold water, after pitching because of a problem with tendonitis in his forearm.

"I pitched according to my strength," said the quiet-spoken Kaat in the Twins' dressing room after he had limited the Dodgers to seven singles in a 5-1 victory.

"No, I didn't look at the scouting reports. I'm a low-ball pitcher, and I knew they were low-ball batters so it's strength vs. strength."

"I actually prefer not to go over scouting reports because I think then you have a tendency to try and pitch too fine. And I'm not a spot pitcher. I'm better off just throwing strikes."

You really mean that, someone asked, and the mouse roared:

"Yeah, I figured let them look at my scouting report and worry about me."

What about matching pitches with Koufax?

"I think pitching against Koufax takes the pressure off you," he said, again startling listeners who stared up to see if there was a smile on his face.

"Look, he's the greatest. Nobody expected me to beat him, so why should I feel any pressure. "All I told myself was he has to beat me between the foul lines—that's where the game is played. But I'll tell you this: I tried not to let the fact that I was pitching against him bother me, but when I saw him throwing the first inning I was afraid to give up a run."

Arnie Swings Hot Club In Ryder Match

By GEOFFREY MILLER

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer faced Britain's most powerful Ryder Cup foursomes pair today—and Arnie's Army was on the march again.

The 36-year-old star from Latrobe, Pa., set the Cup matches ablaze with dazzling golf Thursday, when Britain and the United States battled to a 4-4 score in the two-ball foursomes.

Thousands stood on the hillocks that line the fairways of Royal Birkdale to watch Palmer and his partner, Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., play the first nine holes in an incredible five-under-par 30.

They finally defeated Dave Thomas and George Will 6 and 5 and were seven under par for the 18 holes.

It proved once more that British fans rate Palmer the biggest attraction in world golf.

Today he and Marr were playing Christy O'Connor and Peter Alliss in the better ball foursomes.

"Of course nobody will be there, just nobody," laughed the American nonplaying captain Byron Nelson. "Isn't Arnie the greatest golf competitor in the world?"

Thursday's victory was sweet revenge for Palmer and his partner. In the morning, with Marr nervous as a kitten, all Palmer's shot-making skill couldn't stop Thomas and Will, who won 6 and 5.

O'Connor and Alliss—Britain's best foursomes pair, according to Nelson—had a lot to do with keeping Britain on level terms on the first day.

They racked up a 5 and 4 victory over Ken Venturi of San Diego, Calif., and Don January of Dallas, Tex., in the morning. Then they edged Billy Casper of San Diego and Gene Littler of La Jolla, Calif., 2 and 1 in the see-sawing thriller in the afternoon.

Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., and Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., scored two victories for the Americans. They downed Lionel Platts and Peter Butler 1-up and Jimmy Martin and Jimmy Hitchcock 5 and 4.

The fourth American victory was scored by Casper and Littler, who defeated Neil Coles and Bernard Hunt 5 and 4.

Nixon Plans New Stuff In Browns Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Mike Nixon hopes to scatter his bag of tricks across Municipal Stadium in Cleveland Saturday night and place his Pittsburgh Steelers in the win column for the first time this season.

"We're working on some new stuff to toss at the Cleveland Browns—we hope to surprise them," Nixon said Thursday, adding:

"Naturally I'm not going to reveal the details. We're trying this week to digest the plays. Then we have to make them work Saturday."

Of his injury-riddled team Nixon said:

"We'll be at full strength. I believe. I expect them to be physically and mentally ready for a scrap. Everybody wants to break out with a win."

The Steelers have lost three straight.

Nixon, who has been running the Pittsburgh team only a month, has been pointing out statistics to the squad and keeps reminding the players of the 23-7 surprise shellacking the Steelers gave the NFL champion Browns last year.

Army, Irish Meet Saturday Night

No. 1 Texas Rates Heavy Edge Over Winless Okla.

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Two football attractions with all the glitter of a World Series — the Texas-Oklahoma and Notre Dame-Army classics — headline Saturday's college schedule and the nationally ranked Longhorns and Irish are counting on their heavy hitters to carry the day.

Texas, rated No. 1 in the country after reeling off three straight victories, is a top-heavy favorite to whip the winless Sooners for the eighth consecutive time in their annual rivalry at Dallas. But Texas Coach Darrell Royal, a former Sooners quarterback, anticipates plenty of what he calls "that old Oklahoma fire."

Saturday night at New York

the subway alumni will be out in force for the renewal of the Army-Notre Dame series after a six-year lag. The seventh-ranked Irish are favored by a couple of touchdowns but Army's defensive arsenal may prove formidable.

Several other traditional rivals collide in the fourth week of the season. Among the national leaders, Arkansas, ranked No. 3, is at Baylor for a Southwest Conference clash and Michigan State, No. 5, continues its Big Ten drive against defending conference champion Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Nebraska, Purdue, Southern California and Florida, meanwhile, risk their high standing against rugged opposition. The second-ranked Cornhuskers, 3-0, meet Wisconsin; Purdue, No. 6, tangles with Big Ten rival Iowa; the Trojans, No. 8, visit Washington's hulking Huskies and the Gators, No. 10, are at Mississippi. Purdue and USC are 2-0-1, Florida 2-1.

Georgia, which has ridden upsets of Alabama and Michigan to a 3-0 mark and the No. 4 spot, entertains Clemson and the other member of The Associated Press' Top Ten, ninth-rated Mississippi State, also 3-0, plays host to ambitious Southern Mississippi.

Among the major intersectional tests Saturday are Pittsburgh-Duke, Oregon State-Northwestern, Villanova-Washington State and Syracuse-UCLA. The latter two are night games.

North Dakota Team Heads Smaller List

By The Associated Press

North Dakota State's high-scoring Bisons are still on top of The Associated Press' small college football poll today but that rumbling noise in third place is coming from another powerhouse.

San Diego State, averaging almost 43 points per game for its three victories, received four first-place votes, only one less than top-ranked North Dakota State, and moved up one notch from fourth place.

The No. 1 Bisons insured their spot with a 41-13 romp over South Dakota State. Idle Florida A&M remained second.

Defending national champion Wittenberg fell from third to ninth after losing to Akron, 18-0.

Others in the Top Ten were Northern Michigan, fourth; Middle Tennessee, No. 5; Maine, No. 6; Los Angeles State, seventh; Kentucky State, eighth; and Arkansas State, No. 10.

Browns And Colts Are Pro Choices

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If Sandy Koufax winds up playing for the Los Angeles Rams and Zolito Versailles turns out to be a Minnesota Viking scabback, don't be surprised. This is the annual weekend of confusion when the World Series and pro football collide head on.

Last week was the best of the year for the old Hand picker with a 10-1 mark, missing only the Jets. That made the season record 16-5 in the National Football League and 7-4-1 in the American Football League for a total of 23-9-1.

Let's guess again: All games Sunday afternoon unless otherwise indicated:

National League

Cleveland 28, Pittsburgh 13 (Saturday night) — Steeler defense saggy against the run and the Browns have Jim Brown in high gear.

Minnesota 28, New York 17 (Saturday night) — Giants are beginning to jell but they are over their heads against the Vikings who beat them 24-9 in pre-season.

Baltimore 24, Detroit 17 — End of the dream for the Lions in a bruising battle.

Chicago 28, Los Angeles 21 — This shapes up as one of the week's toughest picks. Bears open at home after fine losing effort against Packers.

Dallas 24, Philadelphia 21 — Absence of Norm Snead a blow to Eagles who had Cowboys number last year, winning both games.

St. Louis 21, Washington 7 — Unless Cards take Skins lightly they should win with ease.

Green Bay 24, San Francisco 21 — Don't be surprised if this turns the other way. 49ers are real tough and Packers have not been playing as good as 3-0 record indicates.

American League

Oakland 21, Boston 10 (Friday night) — Unless Raiders were used up too much by Buffalo they should have enough to handle the Pats.

Kansas City 21, Denver 20 — Another toughie, especially in Denver. But Broncos need super effort by Mickey Slaughter against Len Dawson.

San Diego 21, Buffalo 14 — Big game of day, if not the season, in AFL. Bills beat Chargers in title game last December and also took San Diego twice during regular season. Loss of Elbert Dubenion and Glenn Bass put Bills in tough shape for receivers.

Funeral Set Saturday For Ex-Olympic Star

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) —

Funeral services will be held Saturday for Harold (Stubby) Kruger, an Olympic swimming star in 1920 and later a Hollywood stuntman, who died of a heart attack Thursday.

Kruger, 68, born in Honolulu, was named Swimmer of the Year in 1923 before turning professional to double for the late Douglas Fairbanks Sr. in the film "Black Pirate."

His most recent performance was as a double for Spencer Tracy in "Old Man and the Sea."

Fight Results

TOKYO — Katsuyoshi Takayama, 115½, Japan, outpointed Salvatore Burrini, 116½, Italy, 10. Nontitle.

COPENHAGEN — Boerge Krog, Denmark, and Battling Teidovi, Ghana, drew, 10, lightweight.

LOS ANGELES — Joey Orbillo, 188, Los Angeles, outpointed Manuel Ramos, 192, Mexico City, 10.

Pheasants Decline

In West Part Of Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The

Ohio Division of Wildlife says the pheasant population this year has declined in the western half of the state and remains about the same as last year in the northeast. Cottontail population remains about the same in western and northeastern Ohio, but has increased substantially in the southeast.

Robertson, Cincy Apart By $14,000

CINCINNATI (AP)—With one week left before the start of the National Basketball Association season, the Cincinnati Royals and Oscar Robertson seem to be about $14,000 apart.

Robertson is holding out for a salary increase which the Royals say they cannot afford.

Players' salaries are usually kept secret, but the club issued a statement Thursday describing the situation in terms of percentages. The statement by Board Chairman Ambrose Lindhorst and General Manager Pepper Wilson said the Big O is asking for a 40 per cent raise while the Royals have offered him a basic pay increase of 16 2-3 per cent.

In addition to his regular salary, which is generally considered to have been $60,000 last season, Robertson gets a percentage of the ticket receipts. This was confirmed by the statement.

Simple arithmetic shows that taking $60,000 as the base pay, Robertson is asking for $84,000 and the club is offering $70,000. Neither the Royals nor Robertson would confirm the figures, but the Big O has said in the past he is not asking for the $100,000 some other NBA stars are said to be getting.

"It's not a matter of 40 per cent or 60 per cent or 100 per cent," Robertson said. "It's what I feel I am worth to the team."

He also said he felt the club's action in releasing the statement was "very unusual" and that he doubts he and the Royals will come to terms before the season starts.

Conference Battles Take Ohio Gridiron Spotlight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Conference activity highlights Ohio collegiate football play this weekend.

Ohio State entertains Illinois in the Bucks' Big Ten opener, Miami and Kent, both 1-0 in the Mid-American Conference, duel at Kent, and Muskingum, 2-0 in the Ohio Conference, bids to make it three straight against Mount Union at New Concord.

There are two other key Mid-Am contests. Toledo (0-1) plays host to Ohio (0-1) in a night skirmish with the loser certain to drop out of the race.

Defending champion Bowling Green, picked to win the conference crown, is at home to Western Michigan (0-1) in its first league try.

Now that Wittenberg has been beaten, the Ohio Conference chase is wide open. Wittenberg is outside the league against Central State and figures to rebound.

Other top OC frays find Heidelberg at Capital, Wooster at Denison, Oberlin at Otterbein and Marietta at Hiram.

Ashland plays at Bluffton and Defiance is home for Wilmington in a pair of Mid - Ohio League tilts.

Akron, which stopped Wittenberg last Saturday, takes on another unbeaten eleven, Ball State.

Other big games pit Dayton against Louisville on the Kentuckians' gridiron and unbeaten Xavier (3-0) against Cincinnati (2-1) in a Queen City special.

The others: Southern Connecticut at Youngstown; Ohio Northern at Northwest; Kenyon at Sewanee; Ohio Wesleyan at Albion; Case at Bethany; Findlay at Ferris State; Wayne State at Western Reserve and John Carroll at Eastern Michigan (N).

Figuring The Series

An interesting fact involving Jim Gilliam, the Dodgers' third baseman who erred twice in Thursday's second Series game. In 31 previous Series games covering 108 infield chances he had committed only one miscue.

In going the distance, Minnesota pitchers Jim Grant and Jim Kaat each walked only one Los Angeles batter—first baseman Wes Parker. Kaat fanned three Dodgers Thursday, two less than Grant did in Wednesday's opener.

Ron Perranoski's balk in the eighth inning Thursday was the first balk in a Series game in 12 years. The last was by Vic Raschi of the New York Yankees in the third game of the 1953 classic against the Brooklyn Dodgers. In the same game, Carl Erskine struck out

Minimum Wage Bill

Dead For This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to increase the minimum wage and extend its coverage is dead for the year.

Democrats on the House Education and Labor Committee decided Thursday not to press for action when the chairman, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., couldn't get agreement on a scaled-down bill.

The committee had approved a bill to raise the current $1.25-an-hour minimum to $1.75 and extend coverage to 7.9 million workers. There was little support for the measure elsewhere in Congress, and a more modest bill failed to win committee agreement.

Powell said the committee will try again next year, holding hearings and then drafting a new bill.

Building Sold In Lisbon For County's Use

LISBON — County commissioners agreed Thursday to buy for $76,800 the Hill Building, which now is leased for use of the County Welfare Department.

The building was acquired from Donald and Frances L. Hill. Commissioners said the price will be paid in monthly installments of $400. The balance will be secured by a mortgage, but there will be no interest, commissioners said.

The commissioners awarded a $1,259 contract to Bud Shaffer Ford, Inc., of Salem, for a car for the sheriff's department. The auto is a 1966 Ford two-door with a 1964 Chevrolet two-door sedan was traded.

A claim for $43 was paid to Richard S. Dunn of Hanoverton R.D. 1, for 43 white Leghorn pullets destroyed by stray dogs. Dunn had asked for $79.55, or $1.85 each, for the pullets.

Mrs. Eleanor Bates of Lisbon R.D. 4 was hired by the commissioners on a temporary assignment as a custodian at Southwest Area County Court here. She is to receive $1.25 an hour.

The commissioners approved a $15 travel allowance for Recorder John Wargo and four deputies to attend the North East Ohio Recorders Conference at Atwood Lodge near Delroy.

A slag grant of $300 for Franklin Township also was approved. Commissioners said the Courthouse will close Tuesday because of the Columbus Day holiday.

Beaver Drive In High Gear

BEAVER — The seventh annual United Funds of Beaver County campaign is off to a roaring start, with initial reports totaling $403,930, or more than 46 per cent of the 1965-66 goal of $864,490.

The Monaca Area UF led area reporting with an unprecedented 70 per cent of its $78,065 goal. Cash and pledges totaled $54,633.

Both the Upper Beaver Valley and Rochester Area UF's also set local records for first reports. The Upper Valley reported $117,565 toward a goal of $188,869. The Rochester Area achieved $20,951 toward its goal of $33,735.

The Midland Area reported $29,014 or 45 per cent, of a $63,975 quota. Reports from county-wide companies totaled $15,015 or 43 per cent. Central Valley United Fund, with a report of $6,991, has 37 per cent of its $18,753 goal in hand. In Aliquippa, $103,953, or 36 per cent of a $288,476 goal has been raised.

The Ambridge Area has achieved $40,506 or 33 per cent of its $121,927 goal. The Beaver UF reported the lowest percentage with 22 per cent of a $70,690 goal or $15,302 in pledges.

Barges' Raising Seen By Tonight

Although unable to contact the salvage crew, attendants at the Montgomery Island locks at Montgomery View estimated a sunken coal barge probably will be raised by tonight unless unforeseen problems are encountered.

The Crane Brothers of Pittsburgh started operations Thursday to salvage the barge loaded with 1,200 tons of coal which sank off Smith's Ferry when two towboats collided in a dense fog early Wednesday morning.

The Pittsburgh firm brought a derrick boat and the Allegheny towboat to the scene yesterday. A clam shovel will be used to remove the coal from the barge and then a sling will be maneuvered beneath the sunken barge to raise it to the surface.

The collision involved the downbound LaBelle of the Wheeling Steel Corp. with 10 barges of coal and the Franklin Pierce of the Thomas Petroleum Co. of Butler, which was headed upstream with four barges of petroleum.

How Can I?

ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—Please give some suggestions on the washing of corduroy.

A.—Using lukewarm water and mild suds, lift the corduroy garment up and down in this, rubbing the badly soiled parts with a soft brush. Rinse in clear water, then hang up wet without squeezing or wringing out the water. While drying, shake occasionally. When thoroughly dry, raise the nap by stroking with a brush in the same direction as the ribs run. An automatic dryer is ideal for corduroy, fluffing the nap as it dries.

Given New Government Post

Brezhnev May Have Eyes On No. 1 Spot In Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid Brezhnev, following a pattern set by Nikita Khrushchev, has taken what could be the first step toward becoming undisputed No. 1 man in the Kremlin.

At last week's session of the Supreme Soviet—the Soviet parliament — Brezhnev got a government post in addition to his duties as first secretary of the Soviet Communist party.

Eventually it could help him, like Khrushchev, to consolidate his power at the top of both party and government.

Or it could help him shift into the largely ceremonial post of Soviet president and turn the party leadership over to a younger man.

The first hint of which way Brezhnev will turn is likely to come from President Anastas Mikoyan, who will be 70 next month and is rumored about to retire.

As party first secretary, Brezhnev now holds the top job here. The party runs the government and Brezhnev heads the party.

But Brezhnev still shares his power with the "collective leadership" that succeeded Khrushchev, most notably with Premier Alexei Kosygin, who runs the government.

Both Brezhnev and Kosygin are on the 12-man presidium, highest organ of the party.

Until last week Brezhnev had no high government post. Now the party chief is a member of the presidium of the parliament.

The immediate effect is to give Brezhnev a position from which he as well as Kosygin can represent the Soviet government in summit conferences with Western government chiefs.

This is what Khrushchev did. As party chief alone, Khrushchev would not have been able to represent the Soviet government at the summit. This role would have gone to then-Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

But Khrushchev, like Brezhnev, had himself made a member of parliament's presidium. In that capacity Khrushchev attended the Big Four summit conference in Geneva in 1955 with Bulganin.

At that conference Khrushchev's name was listed second to Bulganin. But in 1958 Bulganin was out and Khrushchev was both party chief and premier.

Khrushchev also used his parliamentary post to make state visits in 1955 with Bulganin to India, Burma and Afghanistan. Brezhnev and Kosygin have not yet traveled outside the Communist camp. When they do, they can now go as a pair.

There could be two other explanations for the new post awarded to Brezhnev.

If Mikoyan retires, the man who succeeds him as president probably will be chosen from the presidium of parliament since the president is chairman of that presidium. As a presidium member, Brezhnev would be eligible to succeed Mikoyan as president, a post Brezhnev once held before.

Brezhnev could then be both party chief and president. This, however, appears unlikely since the presidency involves time-consuming ceremonial chores.

Brezhnev is only 59 but had had a heart attack, and there have been unconfirmed reports that he is anxious to move to a less demanding post.

Under this line of thinking he could give up the party chairmanship and take over as president again. So far there has been no evidence that Brezhnev has such plans. The first Soviet Communist party congress since October 1961 is scheduled for next March 22. The only leader listed to speak besides Kosygin is Leonid Brezhnev.

How To Hold The Weightline

The ring of truth expressed in letters carries conviction. Today's letter is from a dieter who did it — what's more, she is staying slim. She writes:

"As a long-time watcher of your column, I want to pass along my experience.

"In January 1964 I weighed 205 pounds. I am tall, 5' 9", and wore size 22. By the end of September I weighed 145 pounds. The best part is that now, a year later, I still weigh between 145 and 150 pounds. I wear sizes 14 and 15.

"I FOUND that holding the weight down is harder than reaching the goal in the first place. I wonder if other dieters have this same trouble? Perhaps it's my age; I'm 47. I realize that I cannot consume and use up the amount of calories that young, busy mothers can.

"I reduced on 1,000 to 1,100 calories a day. Now I find I cannot hold the line unless I restrict calories to 1,600 or 1,800 a day. This prohibits rich desserts.

"Through it all, I have found that dividing my food into five light meals is the best plan for me. I have three moderate meals a day, and also have an afternoon pick-up and a late evening TV snack. By having the light, late-afternoon 'lunch,' I am not so tempted to overeat when I sit down to eat with the family.

"Perhaps this might help other dieters who find it so hard to wait for the next meal ... and then feel so hungry they eat too much, with their slimming intentions flying out the window for another day."

CHEERS! This intelligent woman has hit upon the best possible pattern of eating to hold the weightline. Note, she is not resorting to intermittent dieting. She is eating to stay slim. There is no other effective way to do it.

By eating three modest meals a day, she avoids an overload at any one meal. Also, it is wise strategy to cut ahead of hunger. This is called purposeful piece-mealing. The late snack keeps her happy in the evening.

Age is a factor in calorie requirements, for with each passing decade we use about seven percent fewer calories.

The Recommended Dietary Allowances give these averages:

Women aged 35 to 55 use 1,900 calories a day; from 55 to 75, the requirement is 1,600 a day. This does not allow for rich desserts.

Exercise was not mentioned in the dieter's letter. A mile or two walk a day would help her to keep toned up, and happily slim.

Standard Oil Co. Workers Strike, Return Quickly

CLEVELAND (AP)—A strike by about 150 refinery workers who walked off their jobs at two Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) plants here early today ended a few hours later, a company spokesman reported.

He said workers agreed to a 15-cents-an-hour increase effective Oct. 4, and contracts with extended to Dec. 31, 1966. He said the strike was settled around 4:30 a.m.

The walkout came after contract negotiations with representatives of Local 7-395, Oil Chemical & Atomic Workers International, passed a midnight strike deadline.

About half the Cleveland refinery workers were reported off the job during picketing. Operations continued with supervisory employees filling in where needed.

At the other two Sohio refineries, at Lima and near Toledo, negotiators reached agreements shortly after midnight. Pickets were posted for a few hours at the Lima plant, but no picketing was reported at the suburban Toledo (Oregon) facility.

"Who me?
Owe $1600!
I just got here."

Each new American citizen born this day starts life with a $1600 debt.

If he grows up to be a breadwinner, and works the normal 40 years, he'll pay his government about $71,000 at the current tax rate—that's more than it would cost him to buy his family three beautiful homes.

And even that doesn't keep up with the spending. He'll probably leave his children, and their children, an even larger debt.

Fortunately, individual taxpayers have strong allies in investor-owned, tax-paying companies. They pay taxes on their earnings just as you do, only bigger—bigger in rate (50%) and much bigger in amount. Last year Ohio Power Company paid more than $34 million in federal, and local taxes—equal to the annual tax paid by 18 thousand families.

Thirty-four million dollars. That's a lot of schools, highways, missiles and mimeograph machines that you didn't have to pay for. Ohio Power has to use sharp-pencil efficiency and sound business management to meet this civic obligation while we continue to bring you the best possible electric service at the lowest possible cost.
